WILLKIE PLANS SPEECH URGING DRAFT ACTION

Hits Dallying in Defense Equipment as Tragedy For Nation.

BACKS BYRD INQUIRY

'No Time to Be Passing Buck' For Delay in Planes, Nominee Asserts.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (U P) — The national defense commission today replied to senate criticism of progress in the rearmament program with a report to President Roosevelt showing that orders have been placed for 6,747 army and navy planes.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Unless congress acts quickly on conscription legislation, it was disclosed today at Wendell L. Willkie's headquarters, the Republican presidential nominee probably will make a speech soon urging its prompt passage.

In his acceptance address Willkie expressed approval of "some form of selective service." He himself has had nothing to say for quotation since that time, but aides said that he favored immediate action.

Talking with reporters on defense legislation in general, Willkie called for a speed-up of military plane construction.

"I want to commend Senator Byrd (D., Va.) for his inquiry as to why 100 days have gone by since the president said we needed 50,000 planes," he said, "and only 343 planes have been ordered for the army, navy and marine corps. None will be delivered in this calendar year and some will not be delivered until 1942.

"As Senator Byrd says, these figures come directly from the secretaries of the navy and war departments. I do not know whether the situation described by Senator Byrd is the fault of administration or of legislation.

"Whoever is at fault, it should be remedied immediately. It is a tragedy for us to continue to daily along with denfense.

"If the fault is that of congress, then the administration should speak forth and ask for legislation. It has a majority in both houses. This is not time to be passing the buck. This is the time to get the planes built."

Willkie said he had noted that Solicitor General Francis Biddle, speaking at Seattle, "accuses me of being a business man." He added:

"I admit it and I am proud of it. It certainly seems strange to Mr. Biddle that a business man should be running for public office, because they haven't had anybody in Washington recently

New Serial Story, 'I'll Wait For You,' Starts Today

An exciting story of romance and adventure in 30 entertaining installments begins today on Page 8 in The News-Journal. This serial by Margaret Gorman Nichols tells the story of a quartet of young people in a small town. An accident taking place near the town of Newton brings the four together.

Carol Tallant, pledged to marry Alan Harding, meets Norman Alexander, architect playboy. She knows, when Alexander first kisses her, that she will always love him, but her sense of fairness forces her to continue her romance with Alan.

In the meantime, Edwina Burke, once wealthy, but now deeply in debt and faced with the problem of how to make a living also meets Norman, and decides to marry him. With a sophistication born of family position and wealth, Edwina proposes only to learn that Norman is in love with Carol.

This smart and moving story, "I'll Wait For You," comes to a surprising climax after the four principal characters experience many exciting and stimulating adventures.

CONGRESSMAN DIES

WASHINGTON — (NS) — Rep. George N. Seger (R) of Passaic, N. J., died during the night at Naval hospital. He was 74 years old.

Seven Were Injured In These Smashed Automobiles

IGNORE ORDER, TRAFFIC HIT

WPA Closes Mulberry-W. 4th Intersection, Hundreds Confused by Action.

Downtown traffic was partly paralyzed today as the WPA closed North Mulberry street at West Fourth street.

Hundreds of motorists using the intersection during the reconstruction of Fourth street found themselves in a dilemma this morning when they drove down Mulberry street only to find the intersection closed.

The intersection was shut off today despite orders issued two weeks ago by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton that the street would have to remain open until North Walnut street was opened.

Without notifying city officials, the WPA closed off the street and began tearing up the old streetcar tracks and removing the old pavement, Crafton said.

Closing the intersection ties up about a half mile of the thoroughfare and motorists driving back and forth must now either use North Main street or Bowman street.

Crafton, surprised to hear that

FRUSTRATE OGPU

Mexicans Break Up Plot To Kill Trotsky Assailant.

MEXICO CITY — (NS) — An OGPU plot to assassinate Frank Jackson, slayer of Leon Trotsky, and his 30-year-old Brooklyn girl friend, Sylvia Ageloff, was frustrated by Mexican authorities, Mexico City police said today.

A strong guard was thrown around the pair after they were removed from Green Cross police headquarters and rushed to suburban Coyocan.

Thus, police said, a plot on both their lives was smashed.

Only a few hours before, Sylvia, New York social worker, steadfastly denied that she was involved in Trotsky's murder.

Cooperating for the first time with authorities, Sylvia admitted she introduced Jackson to the fiery Russian revolutionary in Paris.

At the insistence of her brother, Monte, who flew here from New York to aid her, Sylvia told police she thought Frank Jackson—the man of many aliases—was a British agent.

CHURCH BOMBED

Famous London Edifice Hit By German Raiders.

LONDON — (AP) — The famous old church of St. Giles and the statue of Milton outside it were hit during German Saturday night raids on the "City"—London's Wall street district.

Women Die In Crashes At Loudonville Today

Lives of Cleveland And Kensington Women Claimed in Two Accidents Blamed on Slippery Pavement

Two traffic accidents within an hour and a quarter killed two women on route 3 just north of Loudonville this morning, while wet, slippery roads were blamed for a series of mishaps that injured at least 21 other persons Sunday in Richland and nearby counties.

Killed in the accidents near Loudonville were Mrs. Dela Guthrie, 67, Kensington, O., and Miss Josephine Pisany, 24, of Cleveland.

Fatally injured about 6:10 a. m. when the car driven by her husband, Scott Guthrie, 65, skidded off the highway and turned over, Mrs. Guthrie died on the way to a Wooster hospital. Guthrie is in the Wooster hospital with a back injury.

Miss Pisany was killed instantly at 7:20 a. m. just north of the Loudonville corporation line when a car driven by William Teal, 22, of Cleveland, crashed head-on into one operated by Edgar Smith, 51, of Alliance. Smith is also in the Wooster City hospital, but it was not learned whether his injuries are serious.

Authorities said the Guthries were en route to the state fair

SHOWERS BRING MERCURY RISE

Temperature Goes Up to 80 as Cool Weather Travels Toward East.

Showers brought summer temperatures back to Mansfield today as the August "cold wave" moved eastward into New York where record low temperature readings were recorded.

From a low of 56 degrees last night, the mercury rocketed to 80 at noon today. Weather Observer Otto Sprunger reported. Yesterday's high was only 58.

A half inch of rain fell Sunday and last night, giving late crop prospects a boost. The forecast was for more rain and rising temperatures tonight and Tuesday.

While a new heat wave enveloped the western states, sending the mercury up to 98 at Concordia, Kans., New York City had a reading of 51 degrees, lowest on record for the date.

94, KILLED BY CAR

CLEVELAND — (AP) — George Brune, 94, died today from injuries received in an automobile accident.

LONELY CONVICT

Dies After Serving Eight Years Without Visitor.

LONDON, O.—(U.P.)—There was not a known relative or friend to claim the body today of Mark Rock, 62, who served eight years in the London state prison farm without receiving a visitor, sending or receiving a letter.

He died yesterday after a short illness. Rock was sentenced in 1932 from Huron county to serve an indeterminate term up to 10 years for felonious assault.

He was transferred from Ohio penitentiary to the prison farm June 14, 1932, and since then has never communicated with the outside world, prison authorities said.

Get Set To Start Registration Of Mansfield Aliens

Mansfield postoffice authorities under the direction of Postmaster H. E. Homberger completed arrangements today for the task of registering and fingerprinting an unknown number of aliens in Mansfield and vicinity during the next four months.

The job will be started tomorrow in about 7,300 postoffices and is scheduled for completion on Dec. 26.

The registration law was enacted by congress as a defense precaution.

Aliens in this vicinity must appear in person at the postoffice and obtain application blanks, which must be filled out at home. When filled out the alien must return the blanks to the postoffice where he will be legally registered and fingerprinted.

OPEN PARKING METER BIDS

City Officials Get Prices Today For Providing City With 500 Devices.

The city board of control was to open bids this noon on the purchase of 500 parking meters for downtown Mansfield.

Although there is expected to be considerable competition, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said this morning that not a single bid had yet been turned in. Company representatives were expected to offer their proposals personally.

The board, consisting of Mayor William J. Locke and Crafton advertised three weeks ago for proposals on the machines. They threw the bidding wide open by calling for quotations on manual and automatic and penny and nickle, and combination meters.

City council approved the installation of the meters on a nine months' trial basis at its Aug. 6 meeting. It climaxed a two-year study of the machines by two special committees.

Suggested as a means of alleviating the downtown traffic tangles, the parking meters were recommended a year ago by the Retail Merchants association and more recently by the citizens' committee which made a city-wide survey of the traffic situation.

The measure calling for the installation, passed unanimously by council was sponsored by the traffic committee headed by Arthur L. Croak.

COMPANY LOSES

Rumania Takes Over Business Of British Oil Firm.

BUCHAREST — (AP) — The Rumanian government, through its oil commissar, today took over the affairs of Unirea, a large British oil company with an annual production of 640,000 tons. The oil commissar now directs half of Rumania's production.

JAIL YOUTH IN ROBBERY WAVE

Police Arrest Him Following Chase From Mansfield Homes; Confesses.

Police announced today that they had cleared up at least nine house burglaries with the arrest of a 20-year-old colored youth shortly after he was frightened from an Orchard street residence.

The youth was taken into custody when he was found hiding near the grain elevators on North Main street adjacent to the Pennsylvania railroad.

He was captured without resistence by Capt. Jesse Schwab and Lieut. C. J. Kalstein who led a squad of four officers on a search through the north side after two burglaries were reported within three hours in the same vicinity.

Detectives questioned the youth this morning and after obtaining a confession from him that he had broken into nine homes, they recovered part of the loot in the old Aultman-Taylor building.

Several other items, including a radio were recovered. They had been sold.

The youth, who has a police record, admitted that he was frightened from the home of M. A. Mihalich, 60 Orchard street, about 5

GARAGE BOMBED

Delivery Trucks and Autos Damaged at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND — (U P) — Two trucks and three sedans, used to deliver eggs house-to-house, were damaged early today when a dynamite bomb was set off in a two-story garage.

The explosion blew two heavy sets of doors off the front of the garage and shattered 16 windows in the house of Angelo Di Lauro, located about 25 feet from the garage.

Di Lauro's three sons, Mario, 1; Albert, 14, and Eugene, 11, narrowly escaped injury when glass was showered on the beds in which they were sleeping in a rear first floor bed room.

Damage was estimated at $200. Di Lauro said he knew of no reason for the explosion.

DEPUTIES DUEL

Argentine Officials Make Up After Harmless Shots.

BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — Two Argentine deputies exchanged single pistol shots without injury today in a duel growing out of Saturday's vote refusing the resignation of President Roberto M. Ortiz, and then became reconciled.

Dies Plans Bill To Outlaw Totalitarian Party Activity

NEW YORK—Charging that European totalitarian governments at this moment are preparing for conquest of the United States, Chairman Martin Dies of the house committee on un-American activities today announced his intention of seeking the outlawing of Communist, Nazi and Fascist parties in this country.

Dies declared he was convinced somewhere in Europe there now exists a "central agency," composed of members of all three parties, working in unison to distribute propaganda.

Dies said that as a prelude to introduction of a congressional bill he plans to present, he is writing President Roosevelt asking his support. He will also demand a promise from both major political parties of passage of the measure to outlaw the Communist, Nazi and Fascist organizations.

The Texas congressman disclosed his plans as he arrived in New York to open hearings on Nazi and Communist activities in the metropolis. He charged that foreign propagandists are overrunning the country, sabotaging aircraft plants and other defense industries and undermining the national defense program.

He said, too, that Italian and

German Fliers Turned Back By City Defenders

Dover And South Coast Points Bombed By Swarms of Attacking Planes; More Than 50 Britains Killed In Scenes of Horror

BULLETIN

DUBLIN—(AP)—Bombs were reported dropped near New Ross in County Wexford, southeastern Ireland, today and four persons were killed. New Ross is about 25 miles from the coast.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—German bombs killed more than 50 Britons today in raids on the Midlands and southeastern England.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Massed German raiders, hurtling across Britain's coast along a 30-mile front, blasted Dover, the channel "Hell Corner," Folkestone and South Foreland today in savage reply to the first big British air attack of the war on Berlin.

Adolf Hitler sent his bombers storming toward London for the sixth time in three days but they failed immediately to penetrate the city's defenses.

London's millions went scurrying to shelter at 3:26 p. m. (9:26 a. m. EST.) when alarm sirens screamed, but they emerged again when the all-clear signal was given 37 minutes later without any sign of the raiders or any activity by the city's anti-aircraft guns.

Crossing the southeast coast in swarms, the Germans attempted to reach London after day-long attacks on Dover and Folkestone.

The day's biggest battle raged over Dover, the English channel port only 22 miles from the French coast. Four of the attackers were downed here.

Folkestone, a town of 35,000 population, bore the brunt of a heavy attack in which two of the German craft were shot down after creating scenes of horror among the population. Folkestone is southwest of Dover and 26 miles from Boulogne, France.

South Foreland, sparsely settled sandy waste northeast of Dover, near the Royal military school, was the scene of the day's third major attack.

The dull roar of bombs were heard at intervals throughout the raging battle all along the coast east of Dover to Folkestone, at the lower tip of "Hell's Corner."

The German attackers and British challengers battled desperately for almost two hours, the planes plunging so low over Folkestone that RAF men guarding barrage balloons opened fire on the raiding craft with rifles.

Before the British fighters downed their first three German planes in the Folkestone area, large apartment houses close to the seafront were bombed to the ground.

A number of fires sent huge flames licking skyward. Rescue workers searched frantically in the ruins for victims.

Only a few bombs were dropped east of Dover. The action over Dover itself was confined mostly to dogfights high in the sky while anti-aircraft guns pumped shells incessantly at the raiders.

At Folkestone the Germans swooped out of the sun and the

TENSION: Italy And Greece Prepare To Clash In Albania

BUDAPEST—(INS)—Italy is rushing a division each day of trained troops to the Albanian-Greek frontier and the Greek navy has laid mines in Atrai bay guarding Epirus on the disputed Ionian coast, it was reported in Budapest today.

As Greco-Italian tension mounted to new heights, four more classes of Greek soldiers were said to have been called to the colors and mechanized divisions have been rushed to the Albanian frontier, according to reports reaching Budapest.

Simultaneously, the Fascist-inspired Albanian press charged that Greece is arming peasants near the border.

Throughout the Balkans, military preparations were underway as apprehension increased in diplomatic circles.

Turkey, whose key position in the Balkans has been eclipsed in recent weeks by the Rumanian-Hungarian-Bulgarian crisis, was reported to have received long-range guns from Britain for the defense of the Dardanelles.

Turkish troops, it was reported, are occupying all bridges and railroad stations.

While Rumanian police interned 848 persons for talking politics in cafes and restaurants, Budapest ordered air raid precautions and street lights were shaded.

The London Daily Express reported that with alarm growing

SAFEGUARD: Joint American Defense Board Holds Meeting

(By United Press)

OTTAWA, Ont.—A board of Americans and Canadians meets for the first time today in Canada's luxurious house of commons building to coordinate the two nations' defense plans.

It was believed that the experts would discuss plans for safeguarding the Pacific as well as the Atlantic coasts of both countries, and that the conference involved, at least indirectly, Great Britain's attempts to buy over-age United States destroyers for use in the European war zone and the United States' plan to lease sites for air and navy bases in British possessions in the western hemisphere.

Five representatives from each country composed the board, which was appointed after an agreement between President Roosevelt and Premier W. L. MacKenzie King at Ogdensburg, N. Y., a week ago.

The session between representatives of Canada deeply engrossed in the war with Germany, and the United States, which has been at peace 22 years, was believed destined to make American history.

The United States delegation, headed by New York's Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, as civilian representative, arrives by train. The other members are: Lieut. Gen. Stanley D. Embrick, commander of the Fourth corps army area; Capt. Harry W. Hill, of the navy war plans division; Commander Forrest P. Sherman, U. S. navy; Lieut. Col. Joseph T. McNarney, of the army air corps, and John D. Hickerson, assistant chief of the division of European affairs in the state department, serving as secretary.

Canada's members were: O. M. Biggar, Brigadier K. Stuart, Deputy chief of the Canadian general staff, Capt. L. W. Murray, deputy chief of the naval staff; Air Commander A. A. L. Cuffe, and Hugh L. Keenleyside, counselor of the department of external affairs.

Stop Waiting For Something To Turn Up

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

If this changed world hasn't done anything else for us, it at least has helped to snuff out the type of girl who waits for something to turn up.

Before we began having jobs for women, girl bachelors and women of leisure who cruised the world on tours, the girl who stayed at home waiting for something to turn up was pretty prevalent. If she was well-to-do, she managed to wait on the sofa of a more or less prosperous looking parlor, reading romantic novels and hoping for Prince Charming to present himself.

If she wasn't well-to-do at all, she waited in the kitchen and, between washing the dishes and cooking the meals, she scrimped pennies with the idea of consulting a fortune teller and being advised about the dark man who was waiting for her and the blonde lady who would do her dirt and walk off with the dark man.

Nothing very much happened to the girl who waited for something to turn up, whether she kept her watch in the parlor or kitchen.

The cure for this fruitless watchful waiting is to get busy and arrange something for yourself. Be a "joiner." Join some organization, or better, two or three of them — civic, political, religious, cultural or what is known as "uplift." Joiners are apt to be a social bunch and when they're not working for the particular Cause which they are convinced will cure world evils, they take time off for picnics, excursions, hikes, community dinners and whatnot.

In this way you're bound to meet people, and among them—while he may not be the Prince Charming of song and story—one who may be an entirely creditable person who is terribly lonesome and looking for a nice girl. His attitude toward life may be exactly like yours.

The great thing is to be "up and doing," not with a heart for any fate, as the poem continues: you must be your own fate, the captain of your soul, the forger of your destiny, and a few things like that.

We'll face the worst. Suppose, as a great many girls have written me in unhappy, tear-stained letters, they can't have people at their own homes because some member of the family is absolutely unfortunate and unpresentable — a drinking father or brother, a half-crazy person who would need far too much explaining to make a party possible.

The thing for the up-and-coming girl to do is to join up with some other girls whose home conditions are more inviting, and share the expense of a little party or an out-of-door get-together.

This column has assembled suggestions for some nice old-fashioned out-of-door entertainments and we'll be glad to send them to anyone who would like to try them out. A self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope will turn the trick.

And as a parting injunction, don't stick around the house waiting for something to turn up. Don't be static. The world is full of all sorts of opportunities if you'll only go out and meet them halfway.

Make Effort To Appear Cool, Dainty

MME. QUI VIVE

There are unfortunate ladies who, all summer long, wear kitchen range faces. Though they may never step foot in the kitchen, or lift a hand to prepare a meal, they have the appearance of one who must baste the roast turkey every few minutes. In contrast we have the lovely creature with the ice box complexion. And there's something in that idea, too. Come closer, and we'll tell you about it.

Don't at any time, during a warm day, give your celestial countenance a rousing scrubbing with soap and hot water. It doesn't like it. It is hot enough without being boiled. Do your cutaneous scrubbing before you go to bed, when the flesh can rest and you won't be parading round before the public eye. Rinse with warm water to remove the suds—the tiniest bit of even the best soap should not remain on the skin—and then slap on cold water to bring a reaction of the blood streams and to give freshness to the surface.

There must be cleanups during the day, especially if you are a demon gardener and, as you plough and hoe and pull weeds, sweat streams down your noble brow. Dip a wash cloth in cold water, go over the flesh lightly. Dry, use a cleansing oil, do a little refrigerating by frisking an ice cube over your portrait.

The girl with the seeing eye won't make her face fiery by using blazing lipstick and a heavy coating of rouge. Only the faintest touch of the drug store variety is in order; more than that imparts an expression of fatigue and goodness knows a lot of us hard workers look pretty played out at the end of the day.

Shades of lipstick are varied; you can find corals, true reds, orange tones, raspberry and stunning blends for which there are no definite names. The trick is to select one that is glorifying, that suits your complexion, flatters your teeth and boosts morale.

As for nail polish, we still insist that the blood red varnish is old stuff though many rushers after beauty wealth go on using them. They make the hands look hot. These mistaken duckies should take a peek at the new opalescent products that make the talons appear dainty and shell-like.

It is a treat to the eye to see a girl who looks cool and crisp as a lettuce leaf. The color of the frock she wears contributes to her appearance. Pale green organdy is a cool fabric and looks charming. Green is the coolest color one can wear. White is fashionable and everybody loves it, especially these days of dainty handmade frocks that are lace trimmed.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Hank's right outside the telephone booth," Bill answered, then added hesitantly:—"Would you mind, Auntie Madge, telling him about what things you want us to bring home with us? That would sort of — balance — the money thing."

"Of course," I answered promptly. "And—you're what your uncle, would call a 'thundering good scout,' Bill."

"Thank you," he said a bit huskily. "I'll call Hank right away."

I heard my younger nephew's voice say, "Hello! Auntie Madge!"

There was an excited note in his voice which had been absent from Bill's even in his response to the news concerning their projected hotel sojourn, and which reflected the difference in temperament of the two boys. Bill loved new scenes and possible adventures as much as Hank did, but they did not send the thermometer of his spirits to so high a pitch as they did that of his brother.

"Hello, dear boy!" I answered. "Bill will tell you about your going to the Lansfield—"

"He told me just now," Hank responded excitedly. "Gee! that's splendid of you, Auntie Madge, to let us go there. It's such a swell dump, and there'll be nobody to make us put our lights out at ten o'clock."

I laughed as I sounded an admonitory note.

"Perhaps not at ten, but you ought to be in bed by eleven. You can go to early movies, you know."

"Oh! sure," Hank responded with the ease of specious promises which adolescents exhibit. "Anything you say."

"I'll count on that," I answered. "Now for some details. I will see that you have spending money there, but as one of you has to be the treasurer, and as Bill is the older, I naturally have given him that job. But here's a responsibility I want to lay upon you."

"Just tell me what it is," he responded so quickly that I guessed he wanted to erase his mention of 10 o'clock curfew from my mind.

"Very well," I said pedantically. "Please listen carefully. Will you ask the head master what books and other things he wishes you to bring home?"

"Books!" Hank exclaimed in patent dismay, then covered his error quickly.

"Oh! of course that's right. We'll probably have to study, won't we?"

There was a hopeful note at the end which it was my painful duty to deny.

"I have no doubt you will," I said. "Ask your headmaster to tell you what studying he wishes you to do while you're home."

"Okay," he answered resignedly. "I'll get a full outline."

"That will be splendid," I agreed with enthusiasm. "Have Bill help you pack the things. Unless Dr. Adams wishes, don't bring home your sport equipment, but pack it away in boxes for safe keeping. Do that with every thing you leave there, for we don't know how long it will be before you return."

"That's right," Hank said hopefully, and I guessed that he had visions of a lengthy sojourn at the Lansfield.

"Bring home all the changes of clothing you both will need, including your evening clothes. Also you'd better bring any small keepsakes you especially prize, and might get lost up there. For the rest, ask your headmaster—except—now Hank, here's the most important thing of all. Do you remember the time I came up to your school and found that bag of soiled clothing you'd let accumulate and hadn't sent to the laundry?"

"Yes, I remember." There was a distinctly abashed note in his voice.

"Then see to it that you bring away with you every piece of soiled clothing. Don't leave even a handkerchief up there. Will you attend to all this for me? Bill will help you, of course."

"Sure thing, Auntie Madge. I'll attend to everything," he said cheerily.

"Then I'll say good-bye, unless you have something more to ask me," I told him.

"No, and other boys are waiting for the 'phone," he said hurriedly. "Good-bye!"

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, August 27.

Many surprising denouements may be looked for on this day, with the augury of definite rewards and recognition of long-sustained and patient efforts in launching sound and practical projects which may have new features or novel constructive angles appealing to progressive and productive avenues for promotion and development. While merit and detail may be readily appreciated, it might be just as well to hand over production to others, since the mental and nervous system are under high tension and ideas may be somewhat beclouded or confused.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of definite opportunity for placing new ideas, plans, inventions or projects, both novel, practical and soundly constructive, and having appeal to progressive channels for development and promotion. Such cooperation may be very desirable since the mind is in a more or less erratic or obscure state, and the nerves keyed up to hazardous tension or emotional excitement.

Some Cannot Afford College

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

WHEN I consider the thousands of young men and women going to college this fall, I must think of the many among them who don't really want to go but are sent. In contrast, I must also think, and with more feeling, of the thousands of other youths, bright youths, who would like so much to go to college but cannot for want of money.

Excepting in a night college, it is practically impossible today for a young man or woman to earn his or her way through college while in college, with less than half the regular college cost available; and it is harder for the girl than the boy, as a rule.

I once visited a fine, high-grade college which covers the first two college years (junior college) to enter which a student must not only have ranked in the upper third of his class in high school but must also be "poor." Yet he must have at least two hundred dollars cash a year at his command and be willing to work-to-earn several hours a day.

Money or Mentality?

Although it is growing harder and harder year by year to qualify scholastically in order to enter a first-class college, it is easier to enter a great many colleges without brains than without money. Certainly a good many young men and women do go to college with more money than mentality.

Ability to enter college is largely dependent on family finances. Studies of the American Youth Commisison in Pennsylvania and elsewhere indicate that only about half the high school graduates of America with unusual ability, actually go to college. In other words, half the brightest youth of America are either too poor to go to college, merely think they are, or don't care. Only a few of this half, perhaps, "don't care." More merely "think they are too poor," but most actually "are too poor." Some who push the wheelbarrow or peel potatoes ought to be in college and some in college had better be pushing a wheelbarrow or peeling potatoes.

It was very painful to me to have to answer in the negative the deserving young woman who wrote the following letter:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I crave a college education but I cannot meet the necessary expenses.

"At present I am working on N. Y. A. while Mother, a widow, is sewing on W. P. A. Even our combined income has not permitted any savings. Thus I cannot get financial aid from home.

"Do you know of any institution where I could work my way through? I rank in the upper one-third of the graduating class and I am most willing to work faithfully at school and at work."

Education for the Deserving.

Through sufficient search, a place might be found for this deserving girl to work her way through college, but not for the thousands of other deserving youths like her.

How far should the public go in providing higher education for all bright, industrious youth at public expense? Should it be the public junior college, for two years? Should it be four years of college? Of course, some citizens with ample private funds, believe the senior high school should charge tuition. But what about the apparent economic value of brains and their development to a democracy?

Suppose, however, all the bright youths of America went to college. Then if college graduates continued to aspire only to the white collar jobs where would we get brainy people enough to do all the other essential jobs? If college education more often helped to dignify labor with the hands as well as head, the public might grow more ready to provide opportunities to attend college for all who have superior mentality. What do you think about it?

I still have some book lists about college.

"The Authority on Authorities"

FIRST TYPE OF HAND

Play of suit contracts may be divided into four principal classifications. First comes that in which trumps are drawn as soon as possible by the declarer, so that the opponents may get no tricks with their trumps except high ones which cannot be headed off. Following the drawing of trumps, the various tricks in the side suits are developed, especially in any long suit, so that discards of losers in other suits may be obtained.

1. ♠ A 10 7 5 ♥ 8 5 2 ♦ A K Q 5 ♣ 6 2
2. ♠ A 10 8 ♥ 8 5 ♦ A K 8 7 5 4 ♣ 7 4
3. ♠ A 10 7 5 ♥ 8 7 5 2 ♦ A Q J 10 ♣ 3
4. ♠ A 10 7 ♥ 8 7 5 2 ♦ K Q ♣ K Q J 6

South's Hand
♠ K Q J 9 6
♥ A 6 4 3
♣ A 8 5

If the defending side had done no bidding, and the heart K is led by West, you holding South's hand with any of the four others as dummy would plan your play for 4-Spades on the basis of the first type of hand—trumps first, then long suit.

With No. 1 as dummy, after winning with the heart A, you would reckon on having to take three rounds of trumps, whereupon you would run diamonds, discarding two hearts, ruffing one club and so making an overtrick, with the loss of just one trick in hearts, one in clubs.

With No. 2 as dummy, your best play, after winning the heart, is to lead to the diamond A, ruff a diamond with an honor, lead a spade honor to the A, ruff a second diamond with a spade honor, win two more trumps, the last in dummy with the 10, then run diamonds for three heart discards, losing two clubs only.

With No. 3 for dummy, after the heart trick, lead out trumps, take the diamond A and lead the diamond Q. If it is covered ruff and return to dummy with the last trump to get two heart discards on diamonds, if not covered, discard a heart, or in other words try a "ruffing finesse."

With No. 4 for dummy, after the heart trick and dropping trumps, take four club tricks, discarding your diamond, then lead the diamond K. If it is not covered, discard a heart, so you may steal a trick if East, with the A, is making a bad play.

Tomorrow's Problem.

♠ K 10 8 ♥ J 9 5 3 ♦ 7 5 4 ♣ J 9 4
♠ 6 5 ♥ A K 8 6 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ 8 5 3 2
W. N. E. S.
♠ Q J 9 4 3 ♥ 10 4 2 ♦ 8 ♣ K Q 10 6
♠ A 7 2 ♥ Q 7 ♦ A K Q J 10 8 3 ♣ A 7

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

If South opens the bidding here with 1-Diamond, West bids 1-Heart and East 1-Spade, what should South do with an expert opposite him, with a fair player, and with a virtual beginner, and why in each case?

CHAPTER I

THE HOUSE, a newly painted white cottage with the small sign—Robert A. Tallant, M. D.—scarcely visible from the sidewalk, was unusually quiet this spring afternoon. In fact, all along the street of the modest suburb, where small white houses were enclosed by picket fences and gardens zealously tended, there were no harsh sounds to disrupt the peaceful scene.

It was a free afternoon, Carol Tallant thought, as she pulled the chintz-covered chair in her bedroom close to the twin windows where the cool breeze stirred the fresh white organdy curtains.

She had persuaded her father to play golf and Rosie, the colored cook, had departed in her Sunday best for the funeral of a lodge member. It was a day to embrace, Carol thought, leaning forward—a rather tall, slender girl in a blue linen frock, with fair hair which stirred in motion with her body, with a thoughtful mobile face, attentive dark eyes and capable gentle hands. She thought: I want to embrace this lovely day because everything is so right with me now—with father and with Alan, too. So right. . . . People pause to tell themselves they're unhappy. Why not pause to tell yourself you're completely happy?

A sensitive, fastidious girl, passionately truth-loving, the languid street scene took her back to the great roaring eastern city where she had been born and raised and where she entered one of the great hospitals to become a nurse. After her graduation two years ago, she had returned to the city house to nurse her mother through her last illness and then to be confronted with the problem of her father, an overworked, prematurely aged and saddened man who had lost not only his wife but the bulk of his savings through unwise investments.

On a hot summer night, when the last office patient was gone, she had outlined a plan for a new life to him. "Let's go to a smaller city. You can build up a small practice there and a small practice is all you need. I can get work. Please, you can't go on like this. This big house and the steady stream of patients . . . it's not worth it. Take time to live. We'll find a small house in the suburbs. We'll . . ."

His mild, tired voice had interrupted her. "It's all right for me, Carol. A grand idea for me. I agree with you. But not for you, my dear. It means making an entirely new set of friends, having less than I meant for you to have, and your chances for a good marriage . . ."

She had shaken her fair head and smiled at him across his desk. "I thought you knew me better than that. I'd like a new life in a place where I can breathe. I'd like to feel that I was a small part of a community and not a speck, as I would be here. I'd like to make permanent roots and friends. In a city like this, people go and come constantly. I'm not in love with any one, you know. Please, let's do it. Let's begin all over again."

And so they had come to Newton, a small and flourishing city, and after two years her father had a practice sufficient to meet his modest needs, the charming white cottage was almost wholly his, and in his leisure time he fished and golfed and worked in his garden, a contented man admittedly grateful for the foresight of Carol who was going to marry Alan Harding, a Newton boy, in November.

A crash, so sudden and violent that for a moment it was as if the sky were splitting apart, stunned her. Her body seemed to move without the command of her brain, and the next instant she was hurrying down the curving white stairs, flinging open the door, then the iron gate and running down the street. Two cars had been in collision, a long-nosed black coupe and an equally long-nosed blue coupe. Suddenly every one in the neighborhood was running and by the time she reached the scene she could scarcely see the cars for the people surrounding them.

"Oh, Carol, maybe you can help," some one said in her ear and with the instinct born of her training she elbowed her way through the throng, thinking that if only her father were here . . .

The black coupe, she saw with a quick glance, had crashed into the rear of the blue coupe. A tall young man, obviously the driver of the black car, was lifting a slim, hatless, dark-haired girl from the wheel of the blue car. Strangers both, Carol thought, seeing that both cars bore New York license plates.

"I'm a nurse . . . We'd better get her to a hospital . . ."

Black eyes looked at her penetratingly beneath a frown . . .

"Good." His words were clipped, precise, steady. "My car still goes, I think. You hold her. Is it far?"

"No."

"Thank heaven! Fools, both of us, driving like mad!"

Leaving the gaping crowd, he drove at Carol's directions while she, her arms aching, held the girl who looked as if she were only sleeping. There was no blood and the girl was most certainly alive. At the Newton hospital stronger arms took her and the strange young man followed Carol into the waiting room of the accident ward . . .

From the excitement to quiet again. The grim-looking waiting room was bare except for a long hard bench, and occasionally one's nostrils caught the sweet, sickening odor of ether. Alone together Carol saw the strange young man really for the first time. There was an air of recklessness about the tall, broad-shouldered, loose-jointed frame and though normally, she thought, the black eyes were gay and amusing, they were also alert, knowing eyes which saw through things rather than rested on them. She sensed, too, in the gray tweed figure with dishevelled black hair, an immense vitality, a zest for living, for playing, for laughter . . . The thought flashed, "Playboy" and she rejected it, thinking that if he had been, he had fortunately outgrown any justification for that irritating epithet.

Now he was coming toward her.

"You don't think she'll die, do you?" he said.

"No. And I don't think she's badly hurt. Of course, one can't tell. Don't you know her?"

"Never saw her before in my life. We've been racing each other since we left New York this morning. I don't know who she is but she's very game and sporting . . ." A hint of a smile curved his well-formed mouth. "She hasn't much regard for her life or any one else's. We didn't even stop for lunch because we were getting such a kick out of racing." He stopped suddenly because it seemed that for the first time he was really seeing Carol. "If I may introduce myself . . . Norman Alexander of New York . . ."

"How do you do. I'm Carol Tallant and I live here in Newton."

He smiled again. "How do you do." Then, "When will they let me know how she is? I feel wholly responsible for the whole thing . . ."

Carol said quietly, "How were you to know that she was going to slam on her brakes?"

"What difference does that make? I'd been leading her a merry chase, encouraging her, and mine is the better car." His face clouded. "I had only a glimpse of her face. She's quite lovely." He shook his head. "Beauty destroyed is a ghastly thing. I've banged up myself before but never anyone else. If you'll stay, I'd like to take you home. You've been swell."

A door swung open and the dignified, starched white figure of Amy Durfee, superintendent of nurses, came toward them, smiling her gentle smile which lessened the severity of her features. A woman known and loved in Newton, she had become a staunch friend and admirer of Robert Tallant and it was through her influence that he had become known in Newton and Carol had found work.

"Hello, Carol, dear. Are you in on this?"

Norman Alexander said, "No, I am. How is she?"

Amy spoke directly to the anxious dark eyes. "She's perfectly all right. Knocked out, I doubt that there are any internal injuries. Like a cat, she has nine lives. What happened exactly?"

After he told her, she said, "You crazy kids. I wonder you weren't arrested."

"I expect to be at any minute."

"You probably will be and deserve to be—both of you. Are you just passing through town or . . ."

"In a way, yes. I have a house in the country for the summer, about ten miles from Newton. Out in the hills, I believe they call the section, on the country club road." He frowned. "Do you know her? Who is she?"

HOW TO GET A $100 LOAN WITHOUT ENDORSERS

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $4.46 a month—See table for other loan plans—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service.

YOU can get a personal loan—without red tape or delay—if you can repay in small monthly installments. All you do to apply for a loan at Household is to acquaint us with your problem. You need no bankable security—no endorsers or guarantors.

You may repay your loan on any of the schedules shown in the table below. Thus you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own needs and income.

Payments to fit your purse

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.46 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $4.46 a month for thirty months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.26 each, or a total of only $105.04, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Same rate to everyone

Installments shown in the table repay everything. These installments include charges at Household's rate of 2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300, and 1½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is substantially less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to borrow

You get your Household Finance loan in a simple, private transaction. We require no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) You are spared the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And no questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives.

Considerate treatment

You may expect every consideration in case of sickness or unemployment while paying on a Household Finance loan. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans. This action was taken only as protection against fraud.

If a loan can help you, phone or visit us for further information. No obligation.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you owe charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300 and 1½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

Guard Mobilization Bill Signature Expected Soon

TWO CABINET APPOINTMENTS AWAIT ACTION

55,000 Guardsmen Expected To Be Called for Duty on Sept. 15.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt was expected today to sign immediately the National Guard mobilization bill which congress passed last week.

Returning to his desk after a week-end fishing cruise on Chesapeake Bay, the president was expected to sign the bill probably before he leaves in mid-week for a trip that will take him to Hyde Park and to the Tennessee Valley authority area.

The National Guard bill empowers him to call out 395,000 guardsmen anl army reservists for year of active military service anywhere in the western hemisphere or in United States' possessions.

After signing the bill he is expected to mobilize four guard divisions and some anti-aircraft units—comprising 55,000 men—for duty Sept. 15.

Another 55,000 are expected to be molibized Oct. 15; about 65,000 on Nov. 15, and 40,000 Dec. 15.

Other problems confronting the president include appointment of two new cabinet members—a secretary of commerce and a postmaster general. The resignation of Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, the fifth recent cabinet change, was announced by the White House Saturday. Federal Loan Administrator Jesse H. Jones has been offered the post, but is vacationing in Michigan and has not commented yet on the president's offer.

Postmaster General James A. Farley's resignation, tendered the president shortly after the Democratic National convention, becomes effective Aug. 31.

It was considered possible that Mr. Roosevelt might name Farley's successor before leaving Washington this week. Most frequently mentioned as the possible new postmaster general is Frank Walker, close personal friend of the president's who frequently has been called in to fill key posts.

During the week Mr. Roosevelt is expected to confer with Louis Johnson, recently resigned assistant secretary of war, who not long ago turned down an offer of a $10,000 a year job as Mr. Roosevelt's administrative assistant to oversee all defense activities. Johnson now has been offered the job of undersecretary of commerce, a slight step-up from an assistant secretaryship. It was reported he would not accept it.

Mr. Roosevelt's trip to Tennessee over the Labor Day week-end will be for the purpose of making two speeches—one in connection with ceremonies dedicating the TVA's new Chickamauga dam near Chattanooga; the other during dedication of the Great Smoky National park near Knoxville.

These two scheduled speeches brought from Willkie the remark that he thought it "particularly interesting" that Mr. Roosevelt had refused to debate campaign issues because of the lack of time, "while having ample opportunity to make purely 'non-political' dedicatory addresses."

Cleveland Drops Employables From Relief List Soon

CLEVELAND —(AP)— One more rent and food order—and after that Cleveland's employable clients without dependents will be on their own.

The city relief department announced today such clients would be stricken from its rolls if found capable of holding jobs.

"We feel that this move, considered for some time, is a wise one in the face of changed conditions," said Mayor Harold H. Burton.

About 5,000 men, most of them single, have been notified to appear for examination to determine whether they are able to work.

Officials also announced all aliens on rolls who do not make immediate application for citizenship will be cut off relief.

ICE SERVICE

Frozen Throne And Angels In Unique Ceremony.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two angels and a throne chiseled from ice formed the backdrop last night for annual observance of unique "ice" wedding religious services by Rev. Arthur D. Williams, pastor of the Colored Centenary Methodist church.

More than 1,500 attended the services in Memorial hall. Proceeds went to charity. Rev. Williams has conducted the ice service each year since ice contributed to recovery of his daughter from an illness 16 years ago.

Up and Down THE STREET

Pupils in Richland county schools may obtain free tickets to the state fair at the office of Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, at the courthouse, Robinson said today. The free tickets will not be good, however, on Wednesday and Thursday, big days at the fair.

The marriage license rush that hit other sections of the county when the draft threat appeared last month has spread to Richland county, and probate court clerks handled nine applications for licenses Saturday and this morning. Already more licenses have been issued here in August than in all of the same month last year, and court attaches expect the figure to set a new record for the month.

Patrolman O. D. Fair, of the Mansfield police department who just returned from a week's trip through the east, was telling friends this morning about the beauties of Washington. The only criticism he could make of Washington, however, was the way in which streets are marked there. Looking for a particular building, he asked a Washingtonian how he could get there. The man told him the building was on "H" street, but Fair thought he said "8th." After much winding in and out through the tricky Washington avenues for most of a morning, he finally discovered the error, then spent the rest of the day looking for the street he wanted in the first place.

Three young Mansfielders had to go all the way to Salt Lake City to meet Louis Bromfield. Vacationing in the west, Olga Luich, Barbara Lehman and Katherine Miller, stopped out in the Mormon center to see the premiere of the motion picture "Brigham Young." They postcarded that they shook hands with the novelist who had gone to Salt Lake City for the showing of his most recent story on the life of the Mormons. The Mansfielders also saw Linda Darnell and Tyrone Power, co-starred in the picture, who were there for the premiere showing.

HUNT BODY OF SLAIN GERMAN

Young Hitch-Hikers Confess Robbery-Murder of New York Theater Man.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. —(INS)— The body of Walter Ebeling, manager of a German language motion picture theater in New York City, was sought by police today following the confession of two youthful hitch-hikers that they had killed him during a robbery.

Ebeling's disappearance the night of July 9 last, when he had left South Bend, Ind., by car after visiting friends, had occupied federal, state and local authorities. Ebeling had been known as an anti-Nazi, and it was theorized he might have been kidnaped by political enemies.

In announcing solution of the case, however, state police Commissioner Donald Stiver stated last night the motive for the killing was robbery alone.

Stiver said the slaying was confessed by Richard Klowetter, 24, of Niles, Mich., and Marvin Kagle, 21, of Palmyra, Ill. The two had been arrested on suspicion after they forced an elderly woman to serve them breakfast.

According to Stiver, the two young gunmen said Ebeling, who was driving alone, gave them a ride early in the morning July 10. They robbed him of $80 and his automobile, shot him, and then threw his body into a ditch along the highway near Lafayette, Ind.

DEATH CLAIMS C. J. SCHRACK

Richland County Resident Dies At Home Near Bellville.

BELLVILLE — Charles Jefferson Schrack, 89, died Saturday evening at the home of his son, Clifford Schrack, two and a half miles north of Bellville.

He is survived by two other sons, Allen of Bellville and Bert of Mansfield. Twelve grandchildren and nine great grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the A. A. Shafer funeral home here with Rev. George Schrack of Perrysville officiating. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

FALLS DEAD AT CAMP MOHICAN

War Veteran Stricken With Heart Attack On Camp Grounds.

LOUDONVILLE — Officials of the CCC camp near Mohican near here were making efforts today to locate relatives of Herbert H. Morse, 58, a World war veteran member of the camp who fell dead Saturday while walking on the camp grounds with a companion, Charles Herman.

Dr. George Emery, Ashland county coroner, said death was due to a heart attack.

Morse was twice wounded while in France.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Burns received while destroying trash caused the death yesterday of Miss Clara Stegemiller, 58, of Rising Sun, Ind.

SEVEN FROM RICHLAND WINNERS IN STATE FAIR COMPETITION

Seven Ohio state fair entries from Mansfield and vicinity collected their share of the prize ribbons following the judging yesterday at the fairgrounds in Columbus.

Raemelton Velvet, owned by Donald S. Black, Mansfield, a five-gaited mare, took a third place ribbon in that class, finishing behind entries from Cleveland and Delaware.

Among the Junior Fair entries in the vocational agriculture division, Virgil Rheinbold, Shelby, won a first place with his Duroc Jersey swine, while Clark Stahl, Butler, copped a first with his Poland China swine and a first and third for his Poland China boar.

Donavan Tugend, Butler, also got a first place ribbon for his Spotted Poland China junior litter, and Galen S. Cocanour, Mansfield, finished second and third with his Berkshire boar.

In the vocational farm shop division, Kenneth Weimer, Loudonville, won a first for his neck yoke, and Robert W. Stitzlein, Loudonville, copped a first for his bench hook.

The Ohio State fair swung into full operation today with an overflow of women and children who will be admitted without charge as the state's guests for the day.

Among the attractions for this afternoon is the opening of the five-day harness racing program. This evening will bring the first livestock parade before the official opening of the horse show.

Paid attendance figures for the initial two days were 16,000 below last year's level.

Principal attractions yesterday were the selection of Charles Koehler, 31, Columbus as Ohio's best looking iceman, and the singing of Margaret Speaks, nationally famous soprano from Columbus. Miss Speaks sang to the accompaniment of a 250-piece boys' band.

GAINS SHOWN

Richland Sales Tax Receipts Ahead of State Increase.

Showing a gain almost weekly since the first of the year, sales tax receipts in Richland county so far this year are 17 per cent ahead of 1939 as compared to a state-wide gain of 10.1 per cent.

Collections in the county this year total $348,942, a gain of $51,087 over the corresponding period in 1939.

For the second week in August, the last for which figures were available, receipts in the county amounted to $9,461, representing a 12 per cent gain over the same week last August.

Total collections in the state so far in 1940 amount to approximately $30,000,000 as compared to $27,000,000 for the first seven and a half months of 1939.

'REDS' PREPARE TO MEET FOE'S FLANK ATTACK

Defending General Shifts Command Post in Battle of Wisconsin.

CAMP McCOY, Sparta, Wis. —(U.P.)—Maj. Gen. Irving A. Fish transferred the command post of his defending red army from the Black River Falls area to Cataract., Wis., today in anticipation of a swing to the south in the battle of Wisconsin after the invading blue forces had thrust more than four miles into red territory.

The invaders' advance was led by the 149th (West Virginia) infantry supported by the 138th (Kentucky) field artillery which drove back the defenders last night and secured a position on high ground between Squaw creek and the La Crosse river. Blue patrols captured a red medical detachment at Trout Falls and drove back scout cars of the 32rd reconnaissance squadron.

Fish maneuvered his troops by truck and rail to re-establish the defense in the third day of the battle, final exercise of a three weeks' encampment of National Guard and regular army units of the Fifth and Sixth corps areas.

The Ohio 37th division with the 107th cavalry attached was pressing hard against the red line and the defending Fifth division was massed near Oak Ridge for a possible counter-attack. The red 106th cavalry was withdrawn northward to Millston to protect the Fifth's left flank.

Troop movements were made difficult because of several successive days of hard driving rainstorms.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, visited headquarters yesterday of the Ohio 37th division and discussed progress of the maneuvers with a number of Ohio officers.

Gov. Homer A. Holt of West Virginia and assistant Secretary of War Robert W. Patterson were scheduled to arrive at Camp McCoy today to observe the maneuvers. Patterson was en route by train and Holt was expected to motor from the summer lodge near Sparta where he went for the night after his plane was grounded by fog at Lone Rock, Wis.

KNIVES WIELDED

Two Columbus Men Stabbed to Death; Suspects Held.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Two suspects were held in jail today in connection with the separate fatal stabbings of two Columbus men over the week-end.

Harry B. Lieber, 38, Louisville, Ky., was to be arraigned in police court on a charge of second degree murder in the knifing of William Scott, 32, who died Saturday.

Clarence Armburst, 24, Columbus, was held for investigation into the death of Charles Henry Mays, 21. Police said Armbrust admitted he obtained an eight-inch knife from the kitchen of a night club where Mays was cut during a scuffle Saturday night. Armbrust denied he did the stabbing.

Detectives said Lieber admitted stabbing Scott after they were ejected from a night club Friday night because of an argument.

DIES AT HOME IN CRESTLINE

Miss Anna Hartman Was Sister of Mansfield Woman.

CRESTLINE Miss Anna Hartman, 61, life-long resident of Crestline, and for many years an employe of the Borden Drug company here, died at her home on North street early today. She had been in ill health for several years and bedfast for four months.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs James Boyd, Mrs. Samuel Morkel and Miss Emma Hartman of Crestline and Mrs. John Bossler, Mansfield, and one brother, William of Crestline.

The body was removed to the Garverick funeral home where friends may call. Private funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday and burial will be in Crestline cemetery. Rev. J. H. Lang, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, will conduct services.

ERROR CORRECTED

In a news item yesterday concerning the death of Mrs. J. C. Murray, 19, of Youngstown, a former Mansfield resident, it was erroneously reported that her husband had preceded her in death. Her husband survives along with a daughter and two sons.

EMPLOYES HOLD OUTING

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking for Myself.

I understand that this autumn the couturiers, milliners and beauty experts are insisting on pompadours for women, but by women I hope they do not mean me. I have never seen a girl in a pompadour who would not look better in something else, and this goes for Myrna Loy, Katharine Cornell, Madeleine Carroll and Shirley Temple.

A pompadour makes any girl look like an early tintype of her grandmother. There is very little connection between me and Marlene Dietrich, but I'll bet she'd lose 50 per cent of her glamour in a pompadour, too.

Night club m. c.'s who give a ten cent act a million dollar introduction bore me stiff, and I imagine they annoy the other patrons. . . Hank Greenberg is so pretty I hate to see him rub his hands in the dirt of a baseball stadium, even though I know he's getting ready to hit a home run.

I wonder if George Raft and Beatrice Lillie use the same kind of hair slick stuff? Both their heads have exactly the same quality of black shininess. . . . I love sailboats to ride in, but I prefer looking at speedboats. . . I think Noel Coward's favorite word must be "enchanted." He's always using it, in his plays and in his speech and in the lyrics of the best songs he writes.

Watching the presidential candidates in the newsreels always makes me wonder how some of the great presidents of years ago would have fared on the radio and in the films.

Lincoln, who was something of a wisecracker, would probably have done all right (Raymond Massey proved he was box-office).

Both the Adams boys, John and John Quincy, would have been too stern for the movie audiences. Thomas Jefferson would have been a glamor boy because he was witty and handsome, but Washington wouldn't have fared so happily. He was tall and good-looking, but not much of an ad libber.

Every time I see a window cleaner working on the top half of the Empire State building I feel shuddery.

I'll bet the secret ambition of every puppy in the world is to be left alone for fifteen minutes in one of those delicatessen store windows where the big knockwursts and bolognas are hung like Chinese lanterns . . . I can't help thinking when I see Sally Rand dressed that it's only temporary.

It's funny how the most popular jitterbug band leaders—Glenn Miller, Kay Kyser, Tommy Dorsey, etc. — all look like bespectacled college professors.

I wonder what will happen if Greta Garbo and Laurence Olivier are ever engaged to co-star in a picture, now that Olivier is hot box office.

Garbo once insisted that Olivier be replaced by John Gilbert in "Queen Christina," and the English actor was bitter about it for a long time. It probably delayed his popularity with the American public—and it didn't help Gilbert's at all.

I never saw platinum blond hair that looked real except Jean Harlow's. . . . I like orchestra leader Cecil Golly's amusing signature, "Music by Golly."

I giggled when I heard about the Western Union messenger who went to sing "Happy Birthday" to Harry Richman. Face to face with the famous entertainer he became so embarrassed he lost his voice completely. So Richman sang "Happy Birthday, dear Western Union" to the boy instead, and paid him a dollar for listening.

I see that Hollywood is discovering the United States, state by state. First, "Kentucky." Then a picture called "Maryland." Now they're making "Virginia." It's a great idea, but do they all have to be about horses?

I think it would be fun, if, as well as fingerprinting night club employes, Valentine fingerprinted night club customers. I'll bet a lot of night clubs wouldn't be so crowded.

It's funny how audiences would rather see an American girl doing a hula than a real Hawaiian girl. In Hollywood they use American girls to do native dances in all the tropical pictures—probably for the obvious reason that they're the prettiest.

I guess the Rockefeller Plaza's open air restaurant is the only eating place in the world where the sightseers cannot only look at you, but look down at you and toss gum wrappers at you. . . Nothing is so rare as a Roosevelt button in an East Side night spot.

I like Spud Murphy's new band. Spud used to be the country's top arranger; now he's got his own ork and is arranging his own hot tunes. . . For laughs, the best picture I've seen in a long time is the Dead End Kids in "The Ghost Creeps."

Gigi, the maitre d'hotel at the Coq Rouge, strikes me as being a perfect E. Phillips Oppenheim headwaiter—just the kind Oppenheim likes to write about.

Those girls who keep your eyes off your newspapers and on the ads in the subways are prettier than ever, if I'm any judge. This summer's most popular models were, according to inside sources, Georgia Carroll, Helen Bennett (blonds), Anita Colby, brunette, and Laurie Douglas, auburn. They had camera shutters clicked in their faces most often during the season.

I hear that one of the outstanding scenes in the forthcoming film "The Letter" is a whole sequence which Bette Davis plays with her back to the camera. I suppose if this idea catches on we'll see Marlene Dietrich acting a whole role in slacks, Eddie Cantor with his eyes closed, Ned Sparks with a grin, Harpo Marx making long speeches, and Dorothy Lamour in a hoop skirt.

People are always making gags about cigaret lighters that don't light. I never met one that didn't light. . . Apropos of that, I could never understand why Boy Scouts had to learn to light a fire by rubbing two sticks together. Why not just teach them to carry matches?

So far as I'm concerned, Alvira Rios, the singer at the Rainbow room, never gives too many encores. . . I wonder if there's such a thing as a good woman driver. . . . Newsreel theaters are smart to feature a Walt Disney along with the regular spot stuff. It's a terrific relief to see Donald Duck after you've watched several reels of blitzkrieg and alarm. . . . The Astor skywalk is a romantic spot. And when there isn't a moon there's the Paramount clock. . . . Hey, I think there's football in the air!

Mayer Stops Carr

PLAYING sub-par golf in tournaments is becoming a habit with Joe Mayer.

For the second straight week, Mayer, defending champion, busted par wide open in advancing in the Possum Run club championship golf tournament.

Last week, in an opening round match, Mayer smashed out a four-under-par 68 to eliminate Rollie Rachel, and yesterday in the rain duplicated the feat to take a thrilling one up verdict from Johnny Carr in a second-round tussle. Carr shot a 69 to give Mayer one of his toughest battles of the season.

Pete Zeides, who only last week scored one of the major upsets in the tournament by defeating the highly favored Pete Linster, runner-up in the 1939 tournament, was eliminated yesterday by Grant Hanniwald, 1 up. Last week, Hanniwald was victorious over Lawrence Deley, 3 and 2.

In other championship flight matches Carl Wiseman took over Ted Etzel 3 and 2, and the match between Al and Carl Kushin was not played.

Play in the first flight resulted in Frank Vild taking over H. Bogner, 3 and 2, John Kleshinski defeating Wayne Anthony, 2 and 1, Chuck Schlegel winning over Adam Brandt, 3 and 2; Andy Anderson taking H. Ferguson and V. H. Oberlander taking M. Spurgeon both on defaults; Paul Jesson turning back W. Pohlman, 2 and 1, and Art VanAuker eliminating M. Byrnes, 3 and 2. Harry Schlegel drew a bye.

In the second round flight H. Straub defeated Ralph Beilstein on default, H. Allen won over E. Geiger, 4 and 3; R. Friday was victorious over A. Heath, 1 up on 19 holes; Bob Henry eliminated Dr. L. Adams, 2 and 1. Jack Hannan defeated Bud Houston, 3 and 2; Fred Lewis won over Ray Beal 3 and 2; R. McCollough took over G. Schuckman, 2 and 1, and E. Croskey won out over Pete Schemine, 1 up.

In third flight matches M. Burgess took over H. Betz, 1 up, Dr. Leonard Hautzenroeder defeated L. Luth, 4 and 3; D. Burns advanced over Lee Adams, 1 up; Don Eichen topped I. Dillon, 4 and 3, and Ike Snyder halted O. Spurlin, 3 and 2.

First flight matches in the women's tournament saw Mrs. Fay Strome eliminating Harriet Roth, 2 and 1, and Mrs. L. Adams taking over Mrs. Al Kushin, 1 up. In second flight matches, Mrs. Adam Brandt took over Mrs. J. Seibert, 2 and 1.

Donna Porter topped Mrs. Joe Hartman, 3 and 2; Mrs. E. Geiger eliminated Mrs. H. Stauffer, 2 and 1; Mrs. H. Straub took over Mrs. William Lee, 3 and 2; Mrs. Carl Adams defeated Mrs. O. Spurlin, 2 and 1; Mrs. Peg Tuttle won over Mrs. I. Dillon, 3 and 2, and Mrs. Frank Vild drew a bye.

Lyons, Posedel Week-End Heroes

Hurlers Prove That Yanks, Cardinals Are Not Invincible.

By BILL WHITE
(AP Sports Writer)

AGING Ted Lyons and Sailor Bill Posedel deserve a vote of thanks. They proved to an anxious baseball world that the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals, possessors of two terrific winning streaks, aren't invincible, after all.

* * *

It took some courage for the two old men to find that out. The Yanks, thirsting for blood, had just won six straight from the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians. The Cards' nine successes were making their admirers recall the stirring moments of the stretch spurt that nearly caught the Cincinnati Reds last year.

* * *

Lyons' 18 years of service in the majors stood him in good stead in the first game of the White Sox-Yanks doubleheader at the stadium before 70,740 yesterday. He handcuffed the Yanks with three hits to blank them 1-0 in the opener. Posedel twirled a five hitter to give the Boston Bees a 4-1 victory over the Cardinals.

The Yanks came back, with Ernie Bonham pitching a five hitter, to blast the Sox 3-1 in the after-piece, while the Cards outslugged the Bees 8-5 to square the day's proceedings.

The Yankee split, plus Washington's victory over the Cleveland Indians by a 5-4 count, left the world champions in third place only 5½ games back of the Tribe.

The Detroit Tigers also cut the Indians' edge over second place to 2½ games by thumping the Athletics 7-3.

In the American league's other offering, the Boston Red Sox dropped into the second division by losing the first game to Johnny Niggeling and the St. Louis Browns, 7-2, but then crept back into fourth place with a 17-3 win the short night game.

The top club in the National league fared better than the top one in the American. The Cincinnati Reds won a pair from the Phillies 3-2 and 6-5, to stretch their advantage over the Brooklyn Dodgers to 7½ games.

The Dodgers split with the Pittsburgh Pirates, losing the first 4-3 on Dick Lanahan's eight-hitter, but winning the second 8-1 as Fred Fitzsimmons spun a five hitter for his 13th win of the season.

The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs split a double bill, Chicago took the first 5-1, while the Giants won the nightcap 12-8.

Indians' Best Batsman, Boss

Cleveland Indians' outstanding slugger and manager pose together, Hal Trosky, left, is largely responsible for the fine showing of the Ohio team. Manager Oscar Vitt has brought the Tribe to the fore this season despite difficulties.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds don't have the pennant cinched but day by day they're drawing closer to the finish in the National league race with a steadily mounting lead.

Scenting the championship seven and one-half games in front of the pack, the Rhinelanders called their ace hurler, Bucky Walters, and Joe Beggs in an attempt to polish off the cellar-dwelling Philadelphia Phils today and add more distance to their margin over the second-place Dodgers.

Ike Pearson and Clyde Smoll were summoned by the Phils, who took a double defeat at the hands of the Reds yesterday, the Rhinelanders gaining a full game as the Dodgers split a twin bill. It was the Reds' 12th double victory this season.

Cincinnati took the first game 3-2 and then rang up a 6-5 triumph in the afterpiece.

The first game was a thriller in which Hurler Jim Turner, after allowing only five hits, sparked the Reds' ninth inning attack with a double and scored the winning run.

Walter Beck, who allowed only seven hits, was charged with the loss.

Frank McCormick hit his 12th homer of the season in the opening round of the nightcap, scoring two runners ahead of him. Johnny Rizzo, who the Reds traded to Philadelphia last June, scored a round tripper, his 21st of the year, in the second round. The Phils put together two singles and a double for another run and Rizzo came back in the third for his second circuit clout of the game, good for two tallies.

The Reds scored three runs in the fourth on a triple, a double, a walk, a single and a wild throw.

Jimmy Ripple, the outfielder the Reds obtained a few days ago from Montreal, is A. W. O. L. (absent without official leave) club officials revealed. General Manager Warren C. Giles communicated several times with the Montreal club in an attempt to have Ripple, a good hitter, report as soon as possible.

Zediker Wins Tourney Match

Gene Zediker, 1939 Coolridge Golf club champion moved another notch closer to his second championship yesterday by defeating John Jocha. A battle all the way, Zediker had to go 22 holes to take over Jocha. Both shot a 73.

Two other championship games were played. D. Stritzinger stopped Carl Rancinger on the 19th hole, and Vin Malaska took over Red Kock 3 and 2. Frank Jocha and Joe Kasper are scheduled to play this afternoon.

FORMER WINNER IS TOP FAVORITE IN NET MEET

CHILLICOTHE — (AP) — A three-time winner, Bob Shanklin of Ashland, Ky., is top favorite to repeat his singles victory in the 16th annual South-Central Ohio Tennis tournament opening here Wednesday. He and Eddie Bickle of Columbus will defend their doubles crown. Mary Ann David, of Columbus, women's champion, will compete again. Entries have been received from four states.

Sports In Brief

By Associated Press

SARATOGA SPRINGS—Although Seabiscuit's New World record-breaking stake record in 1:49 in taking Grand Union Hotel stakes by length and a half over favored Whirlaway paced by Warren Wright's William Woodward's Isolator 817 for 52, captured Metropolitan Citizens' handicap.

BROOKLINE—Jack Kraemer and Ted Schroeder defeated Gardnar Mulloy and Henry Prusoff 6-4, 8-6, 9-7 to win national doubles tennis championships; Alice Marble and Sarah Palfrey retained women's crown for fourth straight year, downing Mrs. John Van Ryn and Dorothy Bundy 6-4, 6-3; Miss Marble and Bobby Riggs won mixed doubles.

CINCINNATI—Jack McKee defeated Charles Sjostrom 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 and Helen Germaine downed Mrs. Marcena Weiss Parker 6-4, 6-3 to capture men's and women's metropolitan golf parks singles tennis championships.

Tribe Drops Fourth

Allen Chased in 1st Inning As Washington Scores 5 to 4 Win.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Bewildered by their loss of five out of seven games at the half-way mark in their last long road trip this season, the Indians depended today on the pitching of Mel Harder to return to the victory trail.

* * *

The veteran right-hander was nominated to oppose Emil (Dutch) Leonard in the second game of the Washington series. Harder has won eight in 17 starts. Leonard has won 12 and lost as many.

The Indians dropped their fourth straight, 5 to 4, to the Nats yesterday, their leaderships over the pack slumping to two and a half games as the second-place Detroit Tigers won over Philadelphia. The upcoming New York Yankees gained a half game on the Tribe by splitting a double header with Chicago, putting the champions within five and a half games of the lead.

A four-run Washington rally chased Johnny Allen, Cleveland's starter, before the third out in the first inning. It happened this way:

George Case smacked the first toss for a double, Allen hit Buddy Lewis on the back, Johnny Welaj forced Case in attempting a sacrifice and Cecil Travis walked, filling the bases. At that point, Buddy Myer tripled to score three runners and then crossed the plate himself on Rick Ferrell's single.

From then on, Harry Eisenstat, Joe Dobson and Bill Zuber allowed the Senators only one run, but Washington's rookie hurler — Sid Hudson — held the lead although he was clubbed for 11 hits compared to the Senators' 10.

* * *

Cleveland scored twice in the third and got another pair of runs in the seventh. Singles by Frankie Pytlak and Eisenstat, a double by Ben Chapman, a walk and two infield outs tallied the first two. Singles by Rollie Hemsley, Clarence Campbell and Lou Boudreau, a fly and an infield out produced the other runs.

Bowling Alleys Open Tonight

Meder Recreation Ready For 1940-41 Season.

Bowlers! Here's good news for you!

* * *

The Meder Recreation alleys will officially swing open its doors tonight to prepare for the 1940-41 season.

With at least three league meetings scheduled to be held at the alleys early this week, activity will be at a high pitch as keglers try to take the kinks out of their game.

The "B" league, "C" loop and Club circuit will meet at 8 p. m. today. Several shop leagues held their meetings recently and are ready to launch the new season.

CANTON YOUTH ANNEXES FIVE-MILE SWIM EVENT

AKRON—(AP)—His powerful drive in the stretch brought Jack Roderick, 18-year-old Canton youth, first place in the Portage Lakes aquatic carnival's top event yesterday—the five-mile swim.

Roderick negotiated the distance in 1:32.4. He was pressed by Elwood Woodling of Akron, one-time Ohio State university tank ace.

FORCES POSTPONEMENT

MASSILLON—(AP)—Rainfall resulted yesterday in postponement of the semi-final and final contests of the Ohio softball tournament to Sept. 1. The Columbus Ferguson Auditors, defending champions, are paired with the Akron All-Stars, and the Toledo Page Dairies with the Sabina All-Stars.

LAWSON LITTLE BELIEVES IN MATCH PLAY TOURNEY

AKRON—(AP)—Lawson Little, National Open golf champ, believes there should be a national match play tournament open to all professionals. He said there were many good pro golfers unable to meet requirements for membership in the Professional Golfers' association and therefore were ineligible for the P. G. A. tournament.

Little is ineligible for the tourney this year because he has not served five years as a club professional.

WALKER FIGHTS WEDNESDAY

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Jack (Buddy) Walker, unbeaten Columbus heavyweight, will face Eddie Simms of Cleveland for the third time Wednesday in a 10-round bout here.

Equine Refugee Gets Exercise

Bahram, a champion race horse when owned and run by the Aga Kahn, Oriental potentate now in virtual exile in Switzerland, is pictured above as he is exercised by Dr. Clarence Richards at Gleyndon, Md. Bahram was recently purchased by an American syndicate for $160,000 for breeding purposes and thus escaped the war zone.

Preparations Made For Rifle Matches

CAMP PERRY—(AP)—Within full view of a monument to Admiral Perry and the site of the famous battle of Lake Erie, 5,000 American men and women will meet Sept. 1 for an equally famous peace-time battle.

* * *

From Sept. 1 through Sept. 21, top-notch rifle and pistol marksmen will compete on a lake front, two mile range in the national rifle and pistol matches for the most coveted shooting titles in the world—the Leech trophy and the Wimbledon cup, both in competition since 1872 and 1873, respectively.

At a time when so much emphasis is being placed on national defense, the rifle matches are extremely appropriate in the opinion of Major-General M. A. Reckford commander of the 29th division of the national guard and executive vice-president of the National Rifle association.

"This year, with the greatest emergency of our entire national existence facing us, with the prospect of national conscription a practical reality, the matches, with particular emphasis on the schools of instruction, take on added importance in the defense picture," he declared.

"The entire world is at arms. We are rapidly arming ourselves to the teeth, and the greatest asset this country could have in time of trouble is a citizenry thoroughly grounded in the proper use of firearms."

Already the first contingent from far-off Hawaii is on its way to this Ohio national guard camp. Teams from Alaska and Puerto Rico will also be here.

In all, 105 separate matches will be fired in small .22 caliber, the large .30 caliber military rifles, and in pistols, with all individual and team championships at stake.

The Leech trophy was presented the year after the National Rifle association, co-sponsoring the matches with the war department, was organized. An Irish team that year lost a close decision to an American team at Creedmoor, Long Island, New York, and the Irish presented the trophy to be competed for annually at long range.

The Wimbledon cup came the following year, when an American rifle team made a successful "invasion" of England. Following the matches, held at Wimbledon, Queen Victoria's daughter, Princess Louise, presented the American team with the trophy, in competition annually since that time.

Two army men, Corporal Clifford A. Barger of the infantry, and Private Alfred A. Wolters of the marine corps, hold the two trophies, winning them last fall with perfect scores which set new records for the matches. The Leech trophy has been won all but 15 times by service men, while civilians have won the Wimbledon cup 30 times in the 68 years it has been in competition.

Eight regional champions will be on hand to attempt to wrest from Vere Hamer of Woodstock, Minn., the national small bore championship. They include three of the country's best shots—William B. Woodring of Alton, Ill., who lost to Hamer last year by only two points, Jim Lacy of New Haven, Conn., northeastern champion, and William B. Schweitzer of Hillside, N. J., eastern champion.

Two men in particular will be on the trail of champion Emmett Jones of the Los Angeles police department in the play-off for the pistol championship—Al Hemming, Detroit police record holder and north central regional champion, from whom Jones took the title in 1939, and Walter Walsh, diminutive F. B. I. expert, eastern regional champion.

Supply Semi-Pro Gridders Open Practice

The Automotive Supply semi-pro football squad will stage its initial 1940 practice at Davey field at 6 p. m. Tuesday, Coach Earl McMullen announced today.

Needing several important replacements in the grid machine, McMullen also stated that new candidates seeking to make the team will be given every chance to do so.

Preparing to tackle some of the outstanding combines in the state, McMullen will stage workouts at least three times a week in an effort to have his club in tip-top shape for the initial game the middle of September.

Braves Invade Pandas' Park

Arnold to Face Lima In Ohio State Game.

The Mansfield Braves, idle Sunday because of rain, trek to Lima tonight to face the pace-making Pandas in an Ohio State league tussle. It will mark the Braves' last appearance in the Lima park.

* * *

Manager Dewey Stover will have Bob Arnold available for duty against Lima tonight. He will be after his 17th win of the year. Lefty Biscan, who has marked up 22 wins in the circuit, will toe the rubber for the Lima club.

* * *

Rain also kept the other league teams idle yesterday. Mansfield was to meet Fremont in a doubleheader. In the other tilts tonight, Tiffin plays at Findlay and Fremont travels to Fostoria.

Bobby Halts Rival

Moorhead, Defending Champ, Reaches Semi-Finals In Westbrook Meet.

ALL indications today point to a match between Bob Moorhead and Bill Black, jr., for the Westbrook Country club golf tournament championship.

Moorhead, the defending champion, moved into the semi-finals over the week-end by eliminating E. E. Hoovler, 3 and 2, while Black, former University of Michigan star, advanced by beating Jim Hoffman, 5 and 3.

This week, however, Moorhead must turn back Dr. Art Sprecker, a dangerous rival, while Black tackles B. B. Durmmond. The semi-finals will be completed by Sept. 1.

Sprecker reached the semi-finals by stopping H. P. Hosler, one up on 19 holes, and Drummond moved forward with a 3 and 2 win over Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

In the second flight matches, E. H. Brown topped M. D. Ward, jr., one up on the 20th; P. F. Haley defeated C. P. Eisenberger, one up on 20 holes, and Howard Sotzen turned back Bob Daugherty, 3 and 2. Dr. D. M. Leuthner will meet W. J. Spreng in the other match today. The winners of the flight matches clash in the semi-finals in the above order.

Third flight results were: Paul Cropper beat Bob Kohnstamm, 2 up; Joy A. Herbert won over E. N. Hedeen, default; Henry Talmadge stopped M. H. Hieber, one up on the 24th, and G. E. Hoover topped G. W. Casperson, 5 and 4.

Winners in the fourth flight were: Jim McConnell over Hal Kroegher, default; Charles Hoffman over C. A. Sullens, default, and E. M. Olin over Jack Berno, 4 and 2. Joe Black clashes with K. B. Miller in the other match today.

Four Golfers Are Favorites

Snead, Picard, Hogan and Wood in PGA Meet.

HERSHEY, Pa.—(AP)—The long hitters stepped up and took a bow today as the professional golf brigade set out in quest of the P. G. A. championship, a seven-day combination of medal and match play conceded to be the toughest tournament grind in the game.

* * *

Here on a 7,000-yard layout as long as any on which the P. G. A. ever was contested, the railbirds already have picked out as possible winners a handful of the lads and hit a shot practically out of sight.

As a field of 125, largest in the history of the tournament, teed off for the qualifying rounds, an overnight rain added even greater length to the clovery Hershey Country club course.

* * *

On the strength of their general all-round ability to belt the ball far and away, slammin' Sam Sneed, defending champion Henry Picard, little Ben Hogan and luckless Craig Wood led off the firing as prime favorites.

Snead stepped onto the course the first day he arrived, yesterday, and whipped out a 69. A short time before, Wood turned out a 68, as did Jimmy Demaret.

TEAMS CLASH TODAY

CHARLOTTE—(AP)—Each defeated once, the Springfield, (O.), and Albemarle (N. C.), teams clash today in an elimination game in the northeastern sectional American Legion Junior baseball tournament. Teams twice refeated are automatically out of competition.

Columbus Club Setting Pace

Birds May Produce Fire-Works in AA Race.

(By Associated Press)

The American Association race may yet produce some fireworks if the Columbus Red Birds can maintain for three more weeks their amazing pace of the last month.

• • •

Columbus in the past month has won 26 games and lost 5, a percentage of .839, and now is in second place, six games back of Kansas City and a half game ahead of Minneapolis.

• • •

If the Birds can stick to this form for their remaining 25 games, Kansas City will have to win about 100 games to retain its first place honors.

Columbus' Ernie White set St. Paul down with three hits in yesterday's doublehill opener for a 3-0 triumph and Murray Dickson won the nightcap by the same score.

Minneapolis banged out six homers, three by Ad Wright, to account for 10 runs in their 11 to 5 first game victory over Toledo. Wright drove in six runs. Phil Weintraub's single with the bases loaded in the first inning won the aftermath, 2 to 1, for the Millers.

• • •

The double victories enabled Columbus and Minneapolis to take a game away from Kansas City, which split two with Louisville, 3 to 2, in the inaugural and 7 to 3 in the second game.

DEAN'S DISAPPEARANCE IS THING OF THE PAST

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The disappearance of Lovill (Chubby) Dean from the Athletics is a thing of the past.

The left-handed pitcher, missing since Thursday night, rejoined the club here yesterday. The hurler, who observed his 24th birthday Saturday, parried all questions.

Louis' New Hobby---Singing

Suddenly showing a great interest in singing, Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, is taking lessons in vocalizing from his wife, Martha, a former songstress. Joe has disclosed a deep interest in spirituals, his favorites being "Water Boy," and "Go, Moses!" and "Po' Ol' Larzarus."

Beanball Often Batter's Fault Says Oldtimer

Former Big League Player Blames Batters.

PORTLAND, Ore. —(AP)— Ernie Johnson, who played 13 years of give-and-take major league baseball and now is the Boston Red Sox West Coast scout, believes that "guessing on curve ball" and not deliberate beanballs cause most batting injuries.

• • •

The scrappy ex-diamond star doesn't think much of the suggestion that batters wear helmets to protect them from beanballs, declaring "it's the silliest bunk I ever heard."

• • •

"Pitchers have knocked down and dusted off batters since there was professional baseball, and will continue to do it, but it isn't this so-called beanball that hits them on the head," he says.

"Guessing on a curve ball, a terribly dangerous practice, causes most of it. Occasionally there's trouble on a ball the hitter loses sight of, or a wild heave from a very wild man."

Johnson added that during his playing days he dared pitchers to throw at his head and that they couldn't hit him if they tried all day.

"To stop having batters hit on the head is simple enough," Johnson declared. "Let the batters quit guessing: the man who always looks for a fast ball will never be hit on the head."

CLEVELANDER WINS

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— Cleveland's Ernest Liotta, jr., took all-around honors at the National Casting association tourney here yesterday for the third year. He also won in 1937 and 1938.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Odds on the Yanks to cop the pennant have dropped from 12 to 1 right down to 4-1 since they started to sizzle the last couple of weeks. . . . And the guys who study things like that say the Indians never will recover from the beating Bobby Feller took from the champs Saturday after he had a no-hitter just about in his hip pocket.

The docs have put an official "Okay" on Bill Decorrevont minus his appendix, and say he'll be ready to carry the mail for Northwestern this fall—which shouldn't be anything for the rest of the Big Ten to start cheering about . . . Around here they say Sammy Snead is the "good thing" in the P. G. A. championship at Hershey this week, but Henry Picard's going to be awful tough in his own back yard.

Out of the mail bag: Edward S. Kennedy, Kansas City: Col. Bradley never had a horse that rated the positive degree of the adjective "great" . . . (Brother, who ever called Blue Larkspur a bum?) . . . James E. McKenzie, Chattanooga: You make a long range prediction for Duke to beat Tennessee. We wonder if you'd like to back it up with a little U. S. currency . . . (Pal, we guarantee nuthin').

Credit Ted Lyons, who's crowding 40, with the trick of the week—that three-hitter against the Yanks . . . which comes out here in a couple of couplets:

Teddy Lyons, old and gray
Beat the Yankees yesterday
Let them down with just three hits,
And left the sluggers throwing fits.

Bob Pastor starts training again today for that off-again, on-again waltz with Billy Conn in the garden Sept. 6 . . . Billy goes back to work tomorrow or Wednesday . . . Hurry Cain, the southwestern Louisiana grid coach, sent out a rush call for aspirin when he found out his No. 1 left tackle, Johnny Ramsey, was spending the summer catching sharks . . .

Ann Zukowski, serving 'em up for the Kaufmann Maids softball team from Reading, tossed three straight one-hitters in one day to pitch the club to the Penn State gals championship . . . If that isn't a record, it'll do . .

Up in Soo, Mich., the other day, Sports Commentator Porky Rousseau re-broadcast a Detroit-St. Louis game in the afternoon over the local station, and worked a hockey game a couple hours later . . . Which is really getting around. . .

Don't be surprised if Joe Louis forgets about another fight this year and goes on an exhibition tour of the U. S. and maybe Central America.

THEATERS

Fast-Moving Melodrama.

"They Drive By Night," the action-drama showing at the Ohio boasts a fine cast which includes George Raft, Ann Sheridan, Ida Lupino and Humphrey Bogart. The fast-moving melodrama largely concerns itself with the torrid love affair between Raft and Miss Sheridan. Their romance hits a snag when Raft's boss' wife, Ida Lupino, falls for Raft and through bitter frustration over his continued coldness toward her, accuses him of complicity in her husband's murder.

Mystery of Frank James.

What happened to Frank James? Jesse was murdered by the Ford Bros., in the first of the story of "Jesse James" and his brothers. But Frank was nowhere in evidence when the first James picture ended. The puzzle is now answered in "The Return of Frank James" new technicolor production now playing at the Madison Henry Fonda has the title role, with Jackie Cooper, Henry Hull and Gene Tierney in the supporting cast.

Jane Withers and Autry.

When Jane Withers and Gene Autry teamed up in "Shooting High," the film showing at the Ritz, a double quota of fast-moving entertainment resulted. Jane and Gene ride, shoot and sing their way through this picture. It has five tuneful melodies, two of which Gene sings alone and two which they share. Jane sings "On the Rancho with My Pancho." The second attraction is "Typhoon," starring Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston, Lynne Overman and J. Carrol Naish.

First Run Production.

In his latest picture "Girl From God's Country," Chester Morris plays the role of a surgeon, with the background in the Alaskan country. Jane Wyatt plays opposite Morris. The story is taken from the Saturday Evening Post novel "Island Doctor." The second feature film is "Swiss Family Robinson," in which an all-star cast gives an entertaining story of life on a desert island in the South Seas

90% OF MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL READERS READ THE ADS!

Survey Shows War News Stimulates Reading of Newspaper Advertising!

A lot of advertisers are wondering whether the ads are really being read now that there is so much war news in the paper to take up a reader's time. The Bureau of Newspaper Advertising asked that question, too, of a sample group of readers across the nation. The results are portrayed below. We know you'll be interested in them because they show that when Big News breaks peoples' interest in the whole paper is sharper—and that includes the ads. It shows that 95% of all the women that look at the paper now look the ads over, against 91% in the pre-war period and men, too, have shown a decided increase in the ads. Now is the time to advertise.

MAP
POPEYE HAS LEARNED THAT THE CHART HE FOUND, PROMISING SEVEN FIGHTS WITH SEVEN MEN, WAS A TRAP OF HIS "OL' EMENY", THE SEA HAG—SHE HAS VOWED TO DO AWAY WITH HIM BY FAIR MEANS OR FOUL
PS WE'LL BET ON THE FOUL.
I THINK THAT I AM MOST GENEROUS, LETTING YOU DIE BY FIGHTING, DON'T YOU THINK SO? IT WOULD HAVE BEEN EASIER TO BOIL YOU IN OIL OR HAVE YOU TORN TO SHREDS BY MY LIONS AND TIGERS
YOUR LIFE IS AT STAKE IN THESE FIGHTS WITH MY SONS, BUT I TELL YOU NOW YOU CAN'T WIN!
POOEY!
OH, YES—ONE MORE THING I WANT TO SAY—
EVERYTHING GOES IN THESE FIGHTS! NO HOLDS BARRED!

WELL, TH' GREAT PETER LA PLATA HIT TOWN TWO HOURS AGO, BUT SO FAR HE'S BEEN TOO BUSY TO LOOK UP HIS OLD PARENTS OR HIS KID-
AUTOGRAPH COLLECTORS, FANS, REPORTERS- HE'S A BUSY MAN-
YEAH--- BIG SHOT- POOR MRS. SLAGG SAYS IF THEY HAD A PHONE SHE'S SURE HE'D HAVE CALLED 'EM UP FIRST THING-
THEY HAVE MADE GREAT PLANS FOR THEIR SON'S HOMECOMING---
WHAT IF THEY HAVEN'T A PHONE? THAT GUY CAN'T HAVE FORGOTTEN TH' HOUSE WHERE HE WAS RAISED- CARE T'HEAR MY 'PINION O' THAT BIRD?
NO, ANNIE- PERHAPS ALREADY HE HAS ARRIVED AT THE HOUSE-

AFTER A SEARCH OF THE APARTMENT, PAM FINDS THE ONLY THING MISSING IS HER OVERNIGHT BAG.
I KNOW I PUT THAT BAG THERE YESTERDAY— I PACKED IT WITH THE OLD CLOTHES I WAS GOING TO GIVE THOSE POOR PEOPLE.
BUT WHY SHOULD HE TAKE ONLY A SMALL BAG?
OH! OH! THAT INJURED MAN'S BAG! I FORGOT ENTIRELY ABOUT IT! IT WAS ALMOST EXACTLY LIKE MINE!!
THIS MAN MISTOOK MY BAG FOR THE OTHER ONE— THAT'S JUST WHAT IT MEANS!
HOW STUPID, I FORGOT ALL ABOUT THAT BAG IN THE EXCITEMENT! WHY— IT —IT MIGHT CLEAR UP THE WHOLE MYSTERY!
I— WONDER IF IT'S STILL DOWN IN THE CAR? —THAT MAN'LL BE BACK SOON AS HE LEARNS HIS MISTAKE —I— I'M GOING TO SLIP ON A DRESS, RUN DOWN AND LOOK IN THE CAR.
IS THE UNKNOWN MAN'S BAG STILL IN PAM'S CAR?

TRADERS BUY SPARINGLY OF LEADERS TODAY

Many Top Issues Ignored In Market; British Loans Exhibit Strength.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Traders bought sparingly of steels and a few other favorites in today's stock market but ignored many leaders.

Attracting mild support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, N. Y. Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chrysler, Woolworth and General Electric.

British empire dollar loans exhibited quiet strength in the bond department. Commodities were mixed.

Boardrooms scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that, with production close to the practical ceiling and some plants even above theoretical capacity, the hard metal industry is doing its best to fill requirements of consumers, mindful of a further jump in demand as armament needs reach the contract stage.

The labor department disclosed building permits issued throughout the United States in July exceeded those of June by 20 per cent.

GERMAN FLIERS FAIL TO MAKE LONDON RAIDS

Turned Back by Defenders of City; Southern Coast Heavily Bombed.

townspeople saw the bombs leaving their racks as the raiders dived within a few hundred feet of the rooftops.

Three other dive-bombers were reported shot down in fighting over the mainland.

As three escorting Messerschmitts turned for home they dashed by Dover for their daily sport of "balloon-potting" and shot down two of the big cable-bearing bags.

At least 10 of the raiders were shot out of the German formations roaring across the southeast coast, where scenes of horror accompanied a savage, 20-minute attack on the surprised populace of one coastal town.

A number of casualties, including many dead, were inflicted by the Nazis who dived from a formation of 20 bombers to blast at the town in the midst of the morning shopping hour.

In a matter of minutes, the Germans loosed an attack on another coast town, to the west of this one, and in an hour and one-half battle four of the attackers were downed by British fighters.

Two attackers were shot down in the other raid within three minutes after the British swept aloft to the challenge.

Fighting raged all over the heavens in the second attack, with planes dogfighting, sometimes as high as 30,000 feet. Others dived so low they barely missed the housetops.

One bomb hit squarely on a laundry filled with girls at work. One body was removed from the wreckage immediately and volunteer forces searched for additional victims.

Another bomb destroyed six houses. Still another tore up railroad tracks.

Today's fresh assaults followed a thundering early morning raid on Berlin by British planes after five attacks on the seat of the empire within little more than 48 hours.

In their first major drive of the war on the German capital, the air ministry announced, RAF planes dumped bombs on Berlin armanent factories while other formations raided additional military objectives in the Ruhr and elsewhere in northwest Germany.

German officials, who lost no time in counter-reprisals, announced the British bombers came over in four waves, but dropped no bombs on the city proper and only a few in the suburbs during a three-hour before-dawn air raid alarm.

Hardly had the British bombers returned to their bases before German fliers began raining fire bombs over a wide area of Wales and southeast England.

Most of the incendiary bombs dumped on Wales struck in fields without causing serious damage or casualties. High explosive bombs were dropped on the northeast coast, but the only casualty was one soldier injured slightly.

Earlier, the British bombers streaking out across the channel crossed paths with Nazi night raiders who bombed a town in the Midlands, industrial center of England, causing some casualties including "a few people killed."

This night of raid and counter-raid followed a Sunday of aerial sparring in which the British reported 55 German planes downed in assaults on the south of England, the Midlands, northeast England, and Scotland. Thirteen British planes were lost.

(The Germans claimed 72 British planes were downed to only 14 Nazi losses Sunday.)

Bombs fell in several places on the outskirts of London during the Sunday raids, but the air ministry said they caused but "small fires and damage to property."

One bomb on the outskirts blasted a huge crater only 300 yards from the home of U. S. Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Berlin Gets Taste Of Bombing Raids

BERLIN — (AP) — The high command admitted today that British planes had flown over Berlin for the first time during the war and dropped several bombs on the outskirts of the capital, but asserted that German bombing attacks on Great Britain had caused great destruction to aircraft and arms factories in the Birmingham, Kingston and Coventry areas of England.

The high command communique added that German U-boat and air attacks had sunk more than 50,000 tons of British shipping, and that mines had been laid again off British harbors.

In London, the British air ministry said the RAF planes had bombed arms factories near Berlin.

The official news agency said that the only damage in the raid was to one shack which was ignited, and asserted that German anti-aircraft guns shot down one of the raiding planes as it flew homeward.

The air raid alarm kept Berliners in shelters for three hours and one minute and sent them sleepy-eyed to work.

Planes were heard over the city and directly over Adolf Hitler's chancellery, the foreign ministry, the propaganda ministry and other government buildings. Anti-aircraft batteries on top of these buildings, and batteries all over the city, fired furiously.

Correspondents watching from windows of the United Press offices and from their homes in the west end, heard scores of violent detonations from the west and north during an almost uninterrupted crescendo of fire for a half hour. There were many detonations mixed with lighter explosions which came from anti-aircraft guns nearby.

The alarm was Berlin's fifth since the war started and the third since intensified air war was started against Britain June 18.

This alarm period was far longer than any previous one and gave Berliners their first experience with planes droning over the city, tracer bullets and searchlight beams trying to pierce the clouds and anti-aircraft batteries firing from many places. The repeated intensifying of anti-aircraft fire, after periods of relative calm, made it appear that British planes were flying in waves.

Like the guns, the searchlight batteries did not stay in action all the time but swept the sky at intervals after planes were heard.

2 DIE, 21 HURT IN CRASHES IN RICHLAND AREA

Women Fatally Injured When Cars Crash in 2 Accidents Near Loudonville.

when their car skidded as the brakes were applied.

The car in which Miss Pisany was riding was going north and collided with the other auto when Teal, the driver, attempted to pass three cars, state highway patrolmen said.

8 Die In State.

Traffic crashes in Ohio claimed eight lives, and all but two of them were in the northern part of the state where an all-day rain Sunday made roads treacherous.

Seven persons, all of them from outside the county, were injured, one seriously, in a head-on collision at 8:30 a. m. Sunday on route 42 three miles south of Mansfield.

Most seriously hurt in the crash was Wilson Strobel, 25, Canton, who received a possible skull fracture and multiple lacerations. He is in General hospital where his condition was described as "fair."

Also in the hospital are Miss Mildred Wearstler, 21, Atwater, O., Kenneth Macejko, 12, Cleveland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lenz, both of Cleveland. They suffered cuts and bruises. June Macejko, 14, Cleveland, suffered minor injuries.

Strobel and Miss Wearstler were riding in a car driven by Wayne Hay, 16, East Sparta, O. The others were occupants of a car operated by Lenz. State highway patrolmen said Hay's car skidded when he attempted to pass another machine and crashed into the car driven by Lenz.

Driver Flees Crash.

A car stolen in Ashland figured in a three-car accident on route 42 three miles south of Ashland Sunday morning when two men, including one Mansfielder, were injured.

Authorities said the driver of the stolen car fled after the machine sideswiped two cars driven by Lawrence Rhein, 22, of 34 North Fraklin avenue, Mansfield, and Dallas Bawllin, 59, of Kenton. Thomas Carpenter, 20, Mansfield, riding with Rhein, received cuts on his head and was treated by an Ashland physician. Bawllin was treated for cuts on his head and hands.

Driver of the stolen automobile, owned by Frank C. Paine, Ashland auto dealer, had not been apprehended this morning.

Dr. Herbert Wilgus, 38, and his wife, Mary, 38, of McDonough, Md., were in Mansfield General hospital for treatment for face and body injuries they received Sunday afternoon when their car skidded off route 224 one mile east of Ruggles in Ashland county.

Dr. Wilgus suffered a broken nose, while his wife and two of their three children were treated for contusions and lacerations.

Three Mansfield colored residents were injured Sunday night in a mishap on route 13 four miles north of Mansfield. James Curry, 25, of 27 Lily street, who suffered severe head wounds, said the car he was driving was crowded off the road by another machine and hit a telephone pole, cutting it off.

Joe McCullough, 35, rear of 13 Harmon avenue, and Rufus Danison, 28, Mansfield, were riding with Curry. McCullough received fractures of several ribs, and Danison lost a number of teeth and suffered bruises. All of them were taken to General hospital.

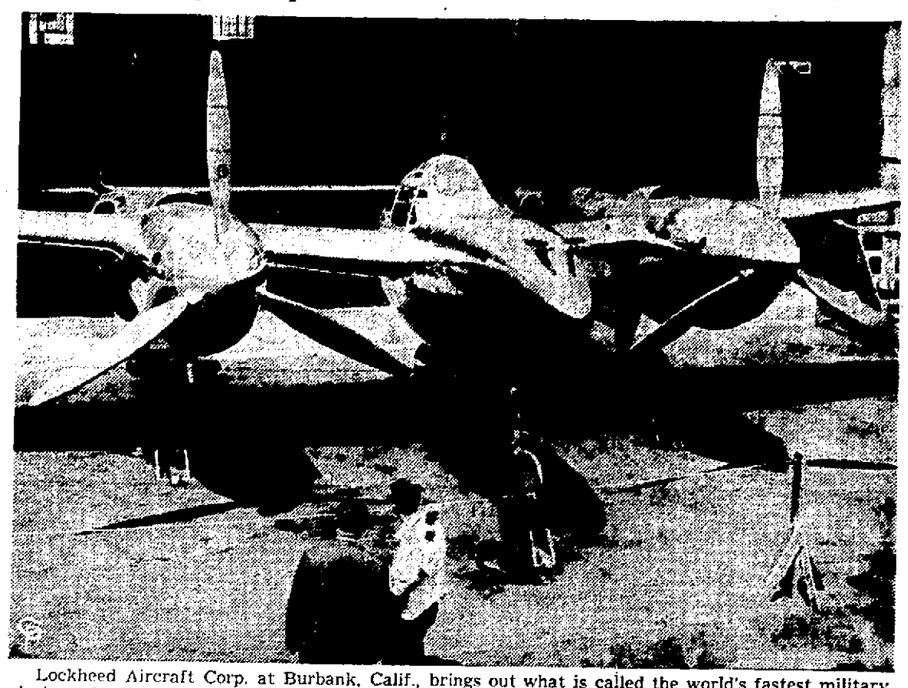
In the northern part of the county, James Urie, R. D. 1, Shiloh, suffered a slight concussion of the brain Saturday night when his car went off a county road and turned over. He was treated by a Shiloh physician.

When an automobile driven by John Danowsky, 21, Shenandoah, Pa., skidded off route 39N one mile west of Mansfield early Sunday, it tore down 65 feet of fence and slightly injured Danowsky's mother, Mrs. Anna Danowsky, 48. They continued west, however, refusing medical treatment, officers said.

Albert Boehme, Ft. Wayne, Ind., and his two small children were treated by a Mansfield physician for minor injuries they received shortly before noon Sunday when Boehme's car skidded and turned over on route 30 two miles west of Hayesville. The car was demolished.

U. S. Mystery Plane Unveiled For Knudsen



Lockheed Aircraft Corp. at Burbank, Calif., brings out what is called the world's fastest military airplane for inspection by William S. Kundsen, chairman of the national defense advisory commission, and Major Gen. Henry H. Arnold, air corps chief. The twin-engine interceptor pursuit ship carries a one pound rapid fire cannon and five machine guns, is said to have a speed of 500 miles an hour, climbing 4,000 feet a minute.

GRECO-ITALIAN TENSION GROWS

Both Countries Rush Troops to Albanian Frontier as War Threatens.

as a result of suspension of Rumanian-Hungarian negotiations over Transylvania, Rumania has started calling up reserves.

From Budapest the same paper reported that the Hungarian army has requisitioned two-thirds of the city's taxis and that fire-fighting equipment has been assembled.

One cause of nervousness was British insistence upon guaranteeing aid to Greece against any Italian attack. This was said to have been communicated to Greek Premier Metaxas by British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax in a telephone conversation.

While some circles took the view that talks with Rumania regarding Transylvania would be renewed later in the week, most government quarters looked upon the Italo-Greek crisis as a possible spark that might set the Balkans ablaze.

Britain's position on Greece was regarded as a clear-cut challenge to Italy, which has been demanding that Greece renounce the British guarantee.

Danger of a "blow-off" was deemed increased by reported heavy concentrations of Italian troops on the Albanian-Greek frontier.

Egypt Warned By Italian Editor

ROME — (U.P.) — Virginio Gayda, often a spokesman for Premier Benito Mussolini, today warned Egypt that Italy would be forced to take "defensive measures" against her if she continued to allow Great Britain to base troops and warships in Egyptian territory.

Gayda presented his warning in the authoritative Gionale D'Italia

He charged that Egypt and the British bases there continued a threat to Italian colonies in Africa and demanded that Italo-Egyptian relations be clarified immediately, once and for all.

"Egypt knows perfectly well that Italy has no aggressive plans against her," Gayda wrote. "But Egypt cannot close its eyes to the fact that England has used Egyptian territory to attack Italy without causing any noticeable protest from Egypt."

Keep Lookout For Italian Warships

LONDON — (INS) — British and Greek naval units are cruising in Greek waters on the look-out for Italian warships believed to be "in the offing," the London Daily Telegraph reported from Athens today.

The paper stated mines have been laid around the Greek coast and airplanes forbidden to cross Greek territory.

The Greek government is continuing to call reserves to the colors, the dispatch added.

Italians Report Oil Tanker Sunk

ROME (AP) Italian submarines operating in the Atlantic have torpedoed and damaged a large British oil tanker, the Italian high command reported today.

A new attack on Alexandria, British base, also was carried out yesterday by Italian warplanes, a communique said. British air raids on Italian positions in east Africa were said to have killed eight colonists and wounded about 40 persons at Gallabat, injured several civilians at Mogadisco and wounded 15 Askari troops at Combolcia.

The Fascist high command's communique yesterday reported a new attack by British naval forces on the port of Bardia an air raid on Tobruk, another Libyan port, and an Italian bombing attack on British motorized forces between the border and Sde Barrani, Egypt, in which three armored cars were said to have been destroyed.

While Virginio Gayda, authoritative editor writing in La Voce D'Italia, warned Britain in obscure terms of "some new surprise" she will have to face in "not many more days," authorities reported the latest British direct attack on Italy had caused little damage.

Bombing planes which attacked Piedmont and Lombardy, in the north, on Saturday night were said to have dropped every few bombs, which killed two persons. The planes were reported put to flight by Italian fighters.

(The Swiss government filed a new and "energetic" protest at London against the British raiders' violation of Swiss territory.)

TOTALITARIAN PARTIES HIT

Dies Plans Bill to Outlaw Nazi, Communist, and Fascist Groups.

German consular agents, seeking to force American citizens to do their will, subtly threaten harm to relatives living abroad. Dies also struck out at the alien registration act under which beginning tomorrow, all non-citizens must register with the government.

"As a result of the evidence we have obtained," he said, "I am compelled to question the wisdom of the present alien registration act."

Dies implied that the registration would, in effect, legalize the activities of all aliens by making their presence in this country a matter of record. Discussing evidence unearthed in recent hearing of his committee, Dies said he could come only to the conclusion that agents of foreign governments in the United States "are bent upon destroying us."

RACE MAN DIES

Cerebral Hemorrhage Fatal to Turf Association Official.

CINCINNATI — (INS) — A cerebral hemorrhage today had caused the death of Maurice L. Galvin, 68, of Covington, Ky., prominent attorney and race track executive.

Galvin, who had been in ill health for a year, was general counsel and secretary of the American Turf association, which is the holding company for Louisville's Churchill Downs, Latonia at Covington and Lincoln Fields at Chicago.

SHORT FREEDOM

Convict Celebrates Release, So Do Two Gunmen.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Celebrating his release after spending eight years in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., Louis Riggione, a notorious counterfeiter, was shot and killed early today by a pair of gunmen not far from police headquarters in the Italian section adjoining Greenwich Village.

The assassins tossed the guns beside the body and sauntered away.

SIXTH AIR RAID

Alexandria Again Target of Italian Bombers.

ALEXANDRIA — (INS) — One person was killed and several were wounded today when Alexandria was subjected to its sixth Italian air raid in four days.

During a 90-minute raid this morning a number of high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped. Authorities said they did little material damage.

a. m., shortly after he had been scared away from the residence of George Skaff, 94 Orchard street, whose home he looted of $88 worth of merchandise on July 29.

Police said they would question him further today concerning a series of house lootings during the past six weeks.

Meanwhile, Richard DeWitt, 21, of 165½ West Third street, was in the county jail awaiting jury action on a charge of breaking and entering.

Arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court this morning, the accused window smasher, pleaded guilty and was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond.

Detectives Lee J. Remy and O. M. Krupp said they had cleared up 17 window smashings, including two in Wadsworth and two in Ashland.

They said DeWitt admitted all of the robberies after they showed his loot taken in the robberies. The loot was recovered at pawn shops in Akron, Canton and Columbus.

DeWitt was accused of breaking the window at the J. F. Orr Typewriter company, 136 Park avenue west, on three occasions. He also admitted, officers said, of breaking windows at the Buell-Kraft studios, Jones Furniture company, Bell Music store and the Shaw Drug store in recent weeks.

Butler Minister Dies On Return From Conference

BUTLER — Rev. S. E. Drummond, 62 died unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home here at midnight last night. Rev. Drummond had just returned home from Akron, where he attended the centennial conference of the Evangelical church in Ohio.

Retiring, he became ill and died sitting in a chair in his room.

Rev. Drummond, who was completing his first year as pastor of the Butler Evangelical church, had been reappointed for another year at the Akron conference Sunday. He had been in the ministry for 35 years, coming to Butler from McZena.

He is survived by his widow, a brother, E. E. Drummond of Harrison, Mich.; a daughter, Donna, at home; four stepdaughters, Mrs. Oron Strong, Rising Sun; Mrs. Clyde McLaughlin, Canton; Mrs. Archie Cover, Nevada, and Miss Juanita Myers, at home; and three sisters, Mrs. Lester Walters, Fremont, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Bowling Green, and Mrs. John Peters, North Baltimore.

Funeral services will be held at the Butler Evangelical church at 1 p. m. Wednesday, with Rev. R. A. Sain of Columbus officiating.

The body will be taken to Burgoon, near Fremont, for burial.

WOMEN PLAY GOLF

SHELBY — Mrs. Herbert Poland will head the luncheon committee for the weekly Ladies' Day activities Friday at Shelby Country club. Assisting will be Mrs. F. C. Long, Mrs. Art Shreffler, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. L. M. Dunathan and Miss Mary Purdy.

who has done anything about business."

The Republican nominee issued a statement yesterday declining the proposal of Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, to debate campaign issues.

"Bebating with McNutt would be a pure loss of time," said Willkie of his Indiana university classmate and Beta Theta Pi fraternity brother.

"Paul is a persistent fellow who is trying to keep in the picture after a rather rough and forced exit at the Chicago New Deal convention. It is a little tough going for him but he is a likable chap."

Mid-Week Vote On Conscription Seen

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Spurred by pressure from leaders and President Roosevelt, opposing forces in the bitter senate battle over compulsory military training talked today of a final vote this week, probably Thursday.

Senator Sheppard (D.-Tex.), chairman of the military committee and floor leader for the Burke-Wadsworth bill, said any additional discussion would come from opponents, or those sponsoring amendments. The debate is in its third week.

"I'm not going to make any speech because everything has been said," Senator Sheppard declared. "Additional speeches would only delay a final vote that everybody should want by now."

Even opposition leaders, such as Senators Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) and Wheeler (D.-Mont.), conceded that the final test was near.

"I think we'll get a vote probably in the middle of the week," Wheeler said.

Vandenberg said he agreed with Democratic Leader Barkley "that it is time to vote on conscription, one way or the other."

Two prominent anti-conscriptionists, Senators Holt (D.-W. Va.) and Clark (D.-Mo.), gave notice, however, that they might oppose any drastic attempt to curb debate.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), who has threatened to call night sessions if necessary to expedite action, forecast a final vote by Wednesday or Thursday. He said that there would "not be more than 25 to 30 votes against" the bill.

Before a final vote can be taken, however, the Burke-Wadsworth measure must clear several hurdles. As it now stands the bill provides for immediate registration of all men between 21 and 31. An unspecified number of those registered would be subject to service at once.

MADE PRISONER WITHOUT CRIME

Cell Doors Slam On Worker, Brooklyners Jeer.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The cell door unaccountably slammed behind William Colton, a cleaner, as he worked on a seldom-used floor of Brooklyn criminal courts building — and made him a prisoner.

"I'm locked in," he shouted out the window to a man across the street. "Get somebody to let me out."

"G'wan back and sit down," the man shouted back. "You're crazy."

Three hours later Colton's cries brought a clerk who released him.

the crossing was closed in disregard of his orders, hurried to the project and found that a steam shovel and WPA workmen had already removed part of the surface.

He immediately asked the state to plank the North Walnut street intersection so traffic could use the street and relieve the crowded conditions on Main and Bowman streets.

"There's not much we can do now," Crafton commented. "Our only hope is that the state will open North Walnut street tomorrow."

State highway officials could not be reached but workmen said it might be a couple days before the concrete put down last week could use the Walnut street crossing.

A WPA supervisor told Crafton the street had been closed to get the intersection ready for concrete. He said the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, now pouring the concrete side strips near Bowman street, wanted to begin pouring the south side of the base at Diamond street and proceed right through Mulberry street.

MOTORIST HELD

Assault And Battery By Auto Charged; 5 Killed.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — (AP) — Motorist F. N. Gaulderoni of Akron, O., was held in Adams county jail today in lieu of $1,000 bail on a charge of assault and battery by automobile.

Pvt. William L. Ramsey of the state motor police said Gualderoni's car and another collided at nearby Cashtown, killing three Waynesboro persons and seriously injuring two others. The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gift and their daughter, Mrs. Doyce L. Shoop.

M'Nary Expected to Attack Reciprocal Trade Pacts

FRIENDS JAM OREGON CITY FOR CEREMONY

Senator to Be Informed of G. O. P. Nomination For Vice President.

(By International News Service)

SALEM, Ore.—Scores of old neighbors today drove to the famed country estate Fire Cone and greeted its master, Senator Charles L. McNary, who tomorrow reaches a climax in his colorful career when he will be notified officially that the Republican party picked him as Wendell L. Willkie's running mate.

Although he had expressed a desire to rest prior to his acceptance speech at the Salem fairgrounds tomorrow afternoon, McNary was besieged by his old cronies — who affectionately called him "Charlie Mac."

"Let's have a barbecue," suggested McNary to the group of well-wishers.

"Fine, Mr. Vice President," shouted the visitors.

The McNary estate, surrounded by huge fir and maple trees, and with orchards of filberts, walnuts and cherries, and even a trout stream that makes an island of the center of Fir Cone, was an ideal spot for a barbecue.

Mrs. McNary, immediately took charge of the arrangements for the "big feed." The former Cornelia Morton of Boston and Washington, D. C., delights in Fir Cone and its simple life. She told friends:

"I'm happy on the farm with my home and my family my only concern. I don't miss the social life of the east."

McNary said he expected to stay at Fir Cone for at least 24 hours after his acceptance speech, then spend the remainder of the week at an Oregon seaside resort before returning to Washington and his job as senate minority leader early next week.

Insiders declared McNary will take several verbal blasts at the New Deal and urge non-involvement in foreign wars; urge reforestation and restoration of American agriculture, and renew his opposition to the Roosevelt-Hull reciprocal trade treatles.

The subject of hydro-electrical power is expected to be discussed. This would be a vital subject, with Willkie being the former head of a public utilities empire and this region being hydro-electrical power-minded, with its huge Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams.

Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota will deliver the notification speech tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. (EST). Already Salem was jammed with a gay throng awaiting the traditional notification ceremony. It was estimated that close to 50,000 persons will view the notification.

LEGION STUDIES DEFENSE POLICY

Governor Sounds Keynote of Ohio Veterans' Meeting at Toledo.

(By United Press)

TOLEDO — The Ohio department of the American Legion buckled down today to serious discussion of national defense policies including conscription and neutrality laws.

Keynote for the vital question was sounded yesterday by Governor Bricker, addressing the formal opening of the 22nd state convention.

"The American people must dedicate themselves anew so that American defense can be made impregnable and America may survive," Bricker told the delegates who represent the veterans.

The American Legion should play a major role, Bricker added, in bostering the national morale and checking subversive activities.

He warned, however, against hysteria that might interfere with traditional American freedom of speech.

Bennet Chapple, assistant to the president of the American Rolling Mill Corporation, Middletown, said radical adjustment in taxation was needed to permit industry to cover its costs in national defense manufacturing.

A downpour of rain halted the colorful outdoor pageantry of the convention yesterday, cancelling a church parade.

Seventeen delegates and their wives were among 25 persons driven from a rooming house by a fire which caused $2,700 damage.

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. Sarah Burger, 90, Dies at Home Near Galion.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH

Funeral Planned Wednesday at Galion for Joseph A. Smith, 72.

GALION—Joseph A. Smith, 72, of 702 South Market street, died Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home. He had been ill for 10 weeks and bedfast two months, complications causing his death.

Born in East Elma, N. Y., March 26, 1868, Mr. Smith was married to Cora Hamman on July 14, 1888.

Surviving are the widow, one son, Joseph H. Smith of Galion; and five grandchildren. Another son, Roy, died 14 years ago.

Mr. Smith came to Galion 16 years ago from Marion. Since he had been in Galion he was employed at the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the family home. Rev. Sterling Wees, pastor of the Church of Christ, will officiate, and burial will be made in the Marion cemetery in charge of the Snyder funeral home. Friends may call at the family home on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

PLAN REUNION

Richland County Delegates To Lakeside Meet.

SHELBY—Plans will be completed for a reunion of delegates from Methodist Epworth leagues in Richland county who attended Lakeside this summer, when a committee arranging the event meets at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the county home of Miss Jean Gatton near Bellville.

The county reunion is to bring delegates together again for a reunion as well as promote sending delegates to the institute next summer. Sponsored by the county committee of camps and institutes, the reunion will be held at First Methodist church here later next month.

The reunion will include a short program with several short talks given by ministers and delegates on the institute and a recreational program similar to the one held at Lakeside. John Gray, chairman of the camp and institute committee for Richland county, will preside at the meeting.

WIDOW DIES

KNOX DISCLOSES NAVY PLANS FOR FLEET OF MOSQUITO BOATS

WASHINGTON — (NS) — The navy will soon begin the construction of a huge fleet of mosquito and torpedo boats for shore and inland waterway defense, it was disclosed today by Secretary of the Navy Knox.

Keenly alive to the importance of such an auxiliary fleet in the interests of "total defense" Knox revealed the latest plans of naval expansion in a letter to Senator Wiley (R.) Wis.

Asserting that the navy is considering some 30 designs for these midget boats Knox said:

"As soon as practicable, these craft will be assembled in one area and given thorough competitive tests and trials to determine which designs are best suited for the needs of the national defense."

"The decision will be made after the navy will enjoy the market for a large number of the chosen designs, with quick deliveries an important factor."

Wiley had proposed that boat production plants be subsidized by the government and located in his state and other parts of the middle west.

"I find that many plants in the small boat industry of the country are well qualified to build these boats," Knox continued. "These plants are spread out along all our coasts, the Great Lakes, the navigable inland waterways and even inland where transporation to navigable stream is overland.

"The total unused capacity of these plants is more than adequate to fill the navy's prospect requirements."

Knox added that "as long as unused capacity to fill the navy's requirements exist, it would be unfair, not to say illogical and wasteful of public funds, for the government to duplicate such capacity by a financial subsidization."

2 MANSFIELDERS LOSE RIGHT TO DRIVE ON COURT ORDERS

Two Mansfield drivers lost their driving rights and were fined in municipal court today for operating their automobiles while under the influence of alcohol. The case of a third cited on a similar charge was continued.

Joseph Werznack, 16 Jefferson avenue, last his driver's license for a year and was fined $350 when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $300 on condition of payment of damages to C. H. Lewis, 31 Grant street, whose car was damaged in a collision on East Fourth street Saturday.

Homer A. Freeman, Woodville road, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs. His license was revoked for a year.

State highway patrolmen said they arrested him on route 39 south of Mansfield Saturday.

Michael E. Madden, 43, of 1212 Lexington avenue, will be arraigned in municipal court Sept. 3 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

He was arrested Saturday on South Main street by police.

Three other drivers arrested over the week-end by highway patrolmen will be arraigned in court tomorrow.

They are Q. F. Montgomery, Cleveland, charged with unsafe driving; Robert L. Spring, driving his car with insufficient brakes, and Joseph Tannert, Ravenna, charged with driving an overweighted truck on a state highway.

BOHN FUNERAL SET TOMORROW

Ashland School Head's Father Dies; Services Planned at Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home for Jacob Bohn, 74, well-known Holmes township farmer and father of Supt. Julius Bohn of Ashland schools, who died Saturday noon at his home.

The services will be held at Epworth Methodist church with Rev. G. A. Hickson officiating. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Mr. Bohn, a native of Germany, was born December 29, 1866 in Altersburg, the son of John G. and Catherine Miley Bohn. He was married Jan. 17, 1891, to Catherine Leuthold, who died Aug. 8, 1939.

Besides his son Julius, he is survived by a daughter, Pearl Bohn at home; two brothers, Christian of Princeton, N. J., and George Bohn of Altersburg, Germany; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Mollison of Columbia Station, O., two grandsons and a nephew, William Bohn, who has made his home at the Bohn farm.

CAR STOLEN

Shelby Man's Auto Reported Seen at Bucyrus Station.

SHELBY—Police in Shelby and Bucyrus were looking for the driver of a car stolen from Shelby Sunday evening.

The car, owned by George L. Reichard, jr., of 94 Sharon street, was stolen in front of his home on Sharon street some time near 6 p. m., police said. Reichard had parked the car there and when he returned later in the evening it was missing, police revealed. A description of the car was broadcast to police in surrounding cities and the state highway patrol.

At 9:30 p. m., it was reported a car believed to be Reichard's was seen at a filling station in Bucyrus. After the gas tank had been filled, the driver drove away without paying the attendant. Bucyrus police reported to Shelby authorities.

CALLS COUNCIL SESSION TO HIRE NEW INSPECTOR

Mayor Summons Lawmakers to Meeting to Pave Way For Roof Drain Enforcement.

A special meeting of city council tomorrow night, was called today by Mayor William J. Locke.

At the Aug. 6 meeting council was faced with a heavy docket and sidetracked some of the less important matters, agreeing to meet again before the regular September session.

Major business will include legislation calling for the employment of a sewer inspector to follow up the recently completed roof drain survey.

Mayor Locke said he would ask council to appropriate $600 for an inspector to check the illegal connections and make preparations for removing the roof water from the sanitary sewer system.

Another measure provides for the closing of two deadend streets, Wayne and East Third streets, involved in the new Westinghouse warehouse expansion program.

Locks said he also hoped that council's finance committee would be ready to report favorably concerning the submission of a one-mill levy to the voters at the November election to finance increased operations of five city departments.

The mayor has suggested the levy as a means of raising additional funds for the operation of the police and fire departments, mnuicipal airport, parks and playgrounds.

UNION CHURCH SERVICES END

Weather Causes Change To Indoors With Fire In Furnace.

GALION—Last of the summer series of Sunday Evening Union Church services which have been held during the summer at Heise park under the sponsorship of the Galion Ministerial Association, was held Sunday evening in the First Reformed church.

Ironically, the summer services closed in-doors, with a fire in the furnace on this last Sunday in August, and the congregation wearing coats.

The speaker was Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of the church, and assisting him in the services were the three officers of the Ministerial association: Rev. Sterling Wees, vice president, who led the songs; the president, Rev. H. K. Freeman who read the Scripture; and the sercetary-treasurer, Rev. O. E. Knepp, who led in prayer.

"The Christian Mission," was the subject of Rev. Elliker's sermon. The service was well attended.

No Longer Awakens Feeling Tired As The Night Before

Mansfield Matron Says Since Vendol Relieved Constipation, Enjoys Restful Sleep and Is Ready for Day's Work. Advises Everyone to Try "Vendol."

MRS. JOSEPH WEIDLE

Vendol grows more popular every day as substantial local citizens relate how it has helped them and give their advice to others suffering the same way to try this famous medicine made from extracts of Nature's roots and herbs with alkalines added for extra benefits.

Mrs. Joseph Weidle of 333 Fourth avenue, Mansfield, says, "I suffered almost daily from constipation which upset my stomach so that gas, bloating, sourness, and acid risings, made me very uncomfortable; and also made my nerves quivery so that my sleep was often light and disturbed. I lay awake by the hour some nights; then next morning would get up feeling washed-out and like I couldn't do the day's job. I began taking Vendol a few weeks ago and it helped me at once, so I kept it up and got marvelous relief from constipation; then the other troubles just gradually disappeared till now I'm feeling just fine again. I advise everyone needing a medicine like this, to be sure to get Vendol because it will help them."

Vendol is sold by most all leading druggists here and is especially recommended by Central Drug store, corner Main and Fourth streets.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1940.

Life is a gamble—and more especially when it comes to picking cantaloupes.

It's all in the way you look at it—this may be the calm before the storm or the storm before the calm.

More judgment is shown in smaller matters—as, for instance, firemen are in readiness even on days when there are no fires.

Congressman McGregor's Views

AMONG congressmen favoring postponement of compulsory military training, pending a further try-out of voluntary enlistments, is J. Harry McGregor, representative from the Seventeenth Ohio district, of which Richland county is a part.

In a letter received by a constituent within the past few days Congressman McGregor states his position as "not opposed to compulsory training when we have the equipment to train with and when it is proved that the enlistment program is falling down."

He says further: "During June and July 55,000 men enlisted for three years at $21 per month. Mr. Knudsen informed our committee that they would not have the equipment for training the men that are now enlisted until the middle of 1941 . . . and we would have housing facilities for only 40 per cent of the enlistment until March 1941."

"My contention is," continues Congressman McGregor, "to reduce the period of enlistment from three years to one year and try it until January . . . I believe I am truthful when I say that my letters are at least forty to one against conscription."

This letter, in any event, sets forth the opposition views to the selective conscription bill now up before congress, supported by President Roosevelt and other high officials in military and civilian positions.

Except in a few instances of extreme pacifism, opposition to conscription is apparently based on belief that voluntary enlistments for a one-year period, at $30 a month, would meet immediate needs for increased manpower as an essential part of America's defensive program.

President Roosevelt, upon whom heaviest responsibility rests in the present situation of national unpreparedness, has expressed belief that postponement of compulsory military training will seriously hamper the entire defense program and urges immediate enactment of the selective conscription bill.

So the matter stands as congress enters the week which may determine the fate of this measure—and which may also play a large part in speeding or retarding this nation's more adequate defense against foreign attack.

Britain's Long Look Ahead

GREAT BRITAIN is methodical, patient and far-sighted, even in this time of great crisis. A Canadian newspaper, speaking of the huge orders for war materials placed with manufacturers in the United States lately, points out that such orders have been given before, but there is an important difference this time.

"The earlier orders placed emphasis on speed in delivery and included large quantities of weapons which were not up to date, but could be shipped with the least delay. Now the demand is for new weapons, and delivery dates have been placed well in the future. The new orders bear heavily on tanks and field artillery.

"What does that indicate?" says the Canadian editor. "Two things apparently—that Britain has enough in course of delivery for immediate needs, and that her leaders are looking to the time when the war will enter another phase.

"For the present, Britain is standing on the defensive, in calm confidence that invasion can have but one result—the complete defeat of the invaders. When she has disposed of the invaders, she will follow up her success by carrying the war to the enemy and pushing on to attack him in his own territory."

Don't Confuse the Voters

COMPLAINT is being made by Charles Sawyer, Democratic national committeeman from Ohio, that removal of the circle from the presidential ballot at the November election would be confusing to voters.

As only the names of presidential and vice presidential candidates of each of the parties appear on the national ballot, which will be separate from the state and county ballot, need for a circle may not be entirely clear—it being assumed that the customary emblems (rooster to indicate Democrat and eagle to indicate Republican) will be retained for the benefit of voters who require this pictorial guidance.

Ability to distinguish between a rooster and an eagle has so long been regarded as sufficient intelligence test in the matter of voting that nothing should be done to disturb this condition and if removal of the circle from the top of ballots should, by any chance, bring requirement for ability on the part of the voter to read the name of the candidate whom he prefers as president, the discrimination might well be regarded as intelligent.

While it might be asking too much of the people, all voters would be able to mark an "X" in front of the name of their choice for president and vice president, too much should not be taken for granted and the ability to read is essential to "intelligent" voting [illegible].

Better Lighting Reduces Eyestrain.

—By DR. CLENDENING

IF LET ALONE by the power politicians and war-mongers, the world would move forward. One little field in which improvement has been so rapid as to have entirely changed the picture in a quarter of a century was called to my attention by a worker who has devoted his life to its development. That is the field of eye conservation in industrial occupations.

He cites the improvements as follows:

First in importance, he says, there are far fewer amateur shop oculists—the kind who use toothpicks, matches, pocket-knives, files screwdrivers, dirty handkerchiefs and other infection-bearing devices to remove particles from the eyes of injured fellow-workers. First-aid rooms with doctors or nurses in charge have become the rule rather than the exception during the past quarter-century, and the workers have learned the danger of inflicting infection in even the most trivial eye injury.

The installation of exhaust systems to draw off poisonous gases and dusts which are injurious to the eyes, ventilation and air-conditioning are also notable improvements.

Industrial lighting has become an expert field of applied science. This has contributed to sight conservation and to the general health of the worker by preventing conditions that result from eye strain.

A study was made of the employees of two New York City post offices—one modern and well illuminated, the other old and with inadequate lighting. The contrasts were often so striking as to strain credulity. In the well-lighted office 12 per cent of the employes were found to have inflammatory or irritative conditions of the eyes or eyelids; 21 per cent in the poorly-lighted office. In the well-lighted office 22 per cent had ocular muscle unbalance, in the ill-lighted office 33 per cent.

Eye infections are greatly reduced by having sanitary washrooms. The roller towel has long ago been legislated out of existence. The common towel is even a greater carrier of eye infection than the common goggles.

There are many remaining problems in eye conservation in industry—the most pressing being the hazard of the growing use of poisonous chemicals. But, as I said above, the whole picture is changed from the callous indifference that was displayed by employers to these conditions a scant quarter-century ago.

"In Search of Complications."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW MUCH do you spend on your lunch, Jim? Cut it out—pay half as much. We all eat too much, anyway. How much do you pay for those chiffon stockings, Jill? Get service ones instead—those shapely shins will still register.

Why this wave of economics? For the best possible why—so you'll save enough to buy what is the No. 1 book of the year to me—Dr. Eugene de Savitsch's "In Search of Complications" (Simon & Schuster, New York).

Dr. de Savitsch was born in Russia . . . raised in the official court surrounding the Tsar at Tsarskoe Selo . . . thrilled, as small boys will, to the incredible scandal which linked the Empress and her Court with Rasputin . . . watched, with widening eyes, the spread of the Revolution . . . was swept out, at fourteen, into new and unknown worlds. Today he is an eminent medico in Washington, D. C. But, between that bloodied and bewildered past and the security of the present, lies as astounding a mixture of misery and mirth, horror, adventure, triumph and monotonous drudgery as ever hammered plastic youth into tempered maturity.

Such stories are not unknown to America. They were, once, the makings of America. We lived them—saw them lived by our fathers. We read them—preached them to our children. But lately we have forgotten them.

They were part of that solid framework that was swamped in the boom-and-booze days of the Twenties. They were snickered at by the "Get-rich-quick" experts . . . swept under the clicking heels of "Flaming Youth" . . . smothered under a luxury loving era. But, thank heaven, they were never quite blotted out. And now, as we once more face long, lean and dangerous years, they rise to shame us and salt us and quicken us to reality.

As a picture of, and a challenge to, the old fighting spirit of democracy, Eugene De Savitsch's story is the greatest new book on American book shelves today . . . the one book, above all others, which may cure what ails us.

Here is a man who became an American "the hard way" . . . who actually endured and triumphed over those "valiant tests" of which we boast so much—and duck so skillfully.

While the "White Russian" aristocracy which he had known abandoned itself to dreams or sought for easy pickings, young Gene de Savitsch went out looking for trouble. Literally. That title of his book "In Search of Complications" is no mere tricky phrase. It is the actual analysis of the man's spiritual pattern—and, incidentally, the secret of his success.

Eugene de Savitsch wanted Life. But, even at fourteen, he did not kid himself about the nature of Life. He knew, instinctively, that life was no chocolate cookie. He knew it meant chance and change risk and adventure — sacrifice and suffering—with an odd moment, here and there, of glory and self-respect. A tough deal—? Yes. Then why should he have tackled it—sought those "complications?" Because, in some uncanny way, he also knew that those "odd moments" were worth all the safety and success and smug complacency which the earth could offer.

He looked for trouble. He looked for trouble because he liked trouble. It might—and did—mean various unpleasant things. Poverty. Starvation. Murder. Hunger. Loneliness. Th. Months in a California sanatorium. Drudgery in Denver and Chicago medical schools. Hell in Africa. But always—life was worth whatever it cost. And never never, was it lived for mere success. That's the substance of Eugene de Savitsch's story of his life. And if it doesn't stir you with something of its own exaltation and inspired stubbornness, you're fit for the junk pile—or the satin cushions.

Incidentally, it's as exciting as the most lurid detective story you ever read—and as simply written as "Three Little Pigs" or Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech. And as noble. Get what I'm aiming at? If you don't, it's your bad luck.

A GREAT BOOK FOR AMERICANS OF ANY AGE . . . BUT PARTICULARLY FOR AMERICAN YOUTH . . . THERE'S MY ESTIMATE OF THIS BOOK . . . AND MY TRIBUTE TO ITS AUTHOR. GET IT . . . EVEN IF YOU HAVE TO GO WITHOUT THAT CHICKEN MARYLAND AND THOSE TWO-THREAD CHIFFONS.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, August 26, 1920.

Secretary of State Colby signed women's suffrage amendment to constitution.

Seventeen cities along Erie railroad were competing in tournament at Galion.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Swendal, Home avenue, returned from trip through the west.

Twelve-year-old Robert Hasenzahl sustained broken arm by fall from apple tree.

Miss Ina M. Fisher and Wilbur C. Hegnauer were married by Rev. G. A. Kienle.

Twelve little friends were guests at birthday party given for Naomi May Muth, Marion avenue.

H. T. Siezenthaler and family arrived home from California trip.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, August 26, 1935.

Twenty-seven Boy Scouts and six leaders of Johnny Appleseed area council returned home after completing a 2,500 mile trip through nine eastern states.

William M. Brown 79, deposed Episcopal bishop of Galion, and prominent lecturer, purchased an airplane, in order to better cover speaking engagements.

Licensing of bicycles as a means of checking thefts which plagued the city, was proposed to city council.

Miss Gertrude McLaughlin was surprised on her birthday anniversary with a party at her home.

Miss Betty Blackstone daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Blackstone 423 Park avenue west, was given a scholarship at Ohio University.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The historic city of Louvain, Belgium, was sacked and in a large part burnt by the Germans on August 26, 1914. About one-third of the city was destroyed, including the famous University [illegible]

Consider Fate of British Fleet; Ponder Danger on Atlantic Coast

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Backstage, the most vital phase of the Anglo-American discussions has not been island bases around the Panama Canal—though they are important—but the disposition of the British fleet in case of a Nazi victory.

The United States wants Britain's island bases in the Western Hemisphere, but these are not nearly so vital as defending New York, Boston and Philadelphia. And if the British fleet falls into the hands of Germany, no force now in the possession of the United States can prevent successful attacks on the Atlantic seaboard if Hitler wants to make them, so long as the United States still has a one-ocean navy.

At present, the number of U. S. warships in the Atlantic is not enough to ward off even the Italian fleet, let alone the combined German and British navies. And even if one-half of the United States fleet is shifted from the Pacific, leaving California open to Japanese attack, this half could not prevent a joint German-British landing in New England, New Jersey or Maryland.

Therefor, what Roosevelt has been worried about, and is definitely discussing with the British, is what becomes of the British fleet in case of defeat. This is where the destroyer trade first entered the picture; i. e., U. S. naval help for Great Britain now in return for British naval help to the United States later.

Would England Surrender?

IN THIS connection, one of the things considered by American diplomats was whether the British could deliver their fleet to the United States and Canada in case of defeat. The Nazis might threaten to wipe out entire cities in retaliation if the British fleet dashed across the Atlantic to the United States. Might not the British surrender, as did the French fleet, is the important question.

This discussion brought out the obvious fact that Britain is in a different position than France, since large parts of her empire are in Canada, Australia and New Zealand. If her fleet could escape to aid the remainder of the Empire, Britain might in time weld together the dominions in co-operation with the United States, into the last remaining barricade to Nazi domination of the world.

Even more significant is the feeling of some Englishmen that the Empire might be better off if it were reconstructed around Australia and Canada, in co-operation with the United States, thus getting away from the idea that the British Isles—now too close to European turmoil—are the nerve center of the Empire.

While such discussion is largely theoretical at present, it points to a very genuine desire on the part of the British to lend the fleet to Canada and the United States, in return for definite naval aid from this country—at once.

Wallace In Elwood.

TO HENRY WALLACE the town of Elwood, Ind., is memorable only as the place where, once and for all, he settled the question of how to pronounce the word "tomato."

He went to Elwood two years ago, unaware that Willkie had ever lived there, to speak at a tomato festival. He opened the speech by telling the audience that Washington hostesses tried to make him say "to-mah-to," and it went hard with him because back in Iowa he always used to say, "to-may-to."

So he proposed to settle the question right there in Elwood. He put it to a vote. "Those in favor of 'to-mah-to,' raise their hands, commanded Henry. Not a hand was raised. "Those in favor of 'to-may-to'?" Every hand went up.

Henry came back to Washington and told Mrs. Wallace that he had been vindicated, that he didn't have to follow the vogue of capital hostesses any more. But Mrs. Wallace took the side of the opposition, declaring that in Mexico, where the tomato comes from, the word must have been pronounced "to-mah-to."

Result is that when the Wallaces sit down to dinner, Henry starts off with "to-may-to" juice, and Mrs. Wallace has "to-mah-to" juice, and the chances of reconciliation on this issue are very slight indeed.

Chief of Staff.

CHIEF of STAFF of the U. S. army, General George C. Marshall, likes to go canoeing. Like any boy friend and his sweetie, he and Mrs. Marshall take a picnic lunch and hire a canoe on the Potomac, at a dollar an hour. . . . Perfect label is the name of Marshall's chauffeur—Sergeant Powder. . . . Another is the name of one of his favorite riding horses at Fort Myer—"Prepare." . . . Marshall is often too busy to go out for lunch. He sends his Negro runner to the soda bar for a glass of milk and a piece of pie. . . . Asked to pose for a photograph looking at an atlas, Marshall made sure the book was not open at Europe. He found a map of Missouri, saying, "I don't want to do a Welles." . . . As chief of staff, his base pay is $8,000, plus allowances of $2,200, plus quarters at Fort Myer. . . . On his doorstep is a brass plate plate bearing Chinese symbols meaning, "Marshall, Commander of American Compound, Tientsin." . . . Just the other day, Marshall wrote a letter to a Greek grocer in Uniontown, Pa., Marshall's birthplace. The grocer, who knew him as a boy, asked how he could be of service in the present emergency.

Secret Bombsight.

THE ARMY guards its famous bombsight so jealously that even its sister service, the United States navy, has been unable to get it.

This is supposed to be a service secret, but the two military branches have been squabbling for several years over their bombsights. Former Navy Secretary Charles Edison several times wanted the president to "use his influence" to prevail on army chiefs to turn the treasured device over to the navy.

Although an ardent navyite, Roosevelt has refused to intervene. He takes the position that competition between the two services keeps them on their toes.

Apparently there is good ground for this view because the navy's bombsight, while less advertised than the army's also is of top caliber. It is a development of a sight originally invented by a Hollander, because of which some military men believe that the Nazis know its basic principles. The navy asserts its sight is as good as the army's—a claim that brings tolerant smiles from army airmen.

The army bombsight has been quietly improved recently through development of a new Sperry gyroscope. The gyroscope is basic in bombsights, since balance is the essential in accurate aerial aiming.

Mail Bag.

C. C., Media, Pa.—The three Roosevelts, Sarah, Franklin, and Eleanor, now occupy three different residences at Hyde Park. Besides the main house, owned by the president's mother, Mrs. Sarah Roosevelt, there is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's home, known as the Val Kill cottage, and the president's new "dream cottage" on Dutchess Hill, completed last spring.

These two cottages are located on property belonging to the president, as distinct from the original property belonging to his mother.

Though Mrs. Roosevelt has a room in the main house, she seldom uses it, spending all her time in the Val Kill cottage. This gives her more independence than would be possible under the roof of her mother-in-law, who has a matriarchal tendency toward governing all around her. At Val Kill she is free to receive friends whom the elder Mrs. Roosevelt regards as "queer."

The president sleeps in the main house and receives visitors there, but he uses his own cottage as a daytime retreat. The secret service frowns on his spending too much time there, because its wooded location makes it too difficult to guard. The main house, on the other hand, stands apart with wide lawns and grounds that can be lighted at night for protection.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Almost everybody likes to translate the past in terms of years, or by referring to specific events, such as wars or floods. They'll say, "I haven't seen Joe since 1927," or "That was before the War."

Benny Davis doesn't do it that way. Benny likes to refer to the past musically. He likes to name the years after the songs he has written. For instance, 1922 is his "Margie" year. Margie is Benny's supreme achievement. It sold more copies than any song he ever wrote, and in that same year he wrote "Make Believe," "Yearning," "Lonesome and Sorry," "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight." In royalties alone 1922 paid him more than $200,000. But those days are gone. Those five songs together sold more than 10,000,000 copies. All the songs published in 1940 will not equal that.

You have to think of Benny Davis in terms of Tin Pan Alley and Broadway to understand him. You have to think of him in terms of presentation houses and footlights, of banging pianos and introducing unknown people to theater audiences. When he introduces them they are unknown. Often, after that introduction, they become celebrities.

IT'S a long story, those introductions and names. . . . Some of them will strike a responsive chord in your memory. They include Vilma and Buddy Ebsen; they include Hal LeRoy, the dancer, and Ruby Keeler, who used to be Mrs. Al Jolson. They include Harry Richman, Helen Morgan, and Martha Raye. They also include Eleanor Powell, Little Jackie Heller, the Andrews Sisters, the Smoothies, and the famous trio now with Fred Waring, Two Bees and a Honey.

"The Andrews Sisters worked six weeks for me for nothing," Benny says. "They were great; they were wonderful to me. They got their chance, and they clicked." Of Eleanor Powell, who is a star now and famous, he says, "That kid always remembers. No matter where I go, and no matter where she happens to be, when I open a new show she always sends me a telegram. How she keeps up with me I don't know. But she does, and I will always appreciate her thoughtfulness."

Benny, like show producers and others who follow an insane existence, is writing songs as eagerly as any freshman striving for his first hit. You see him sitting in a restaurant, or crossing a street. And something will happen—a waiter will touch his elbow, or a cab driver will scream a bit of picturesque lingo at some hapless pedestrian—and Benny will reach for his pad and make a few hurried notes. That's the idea for a song. Something that may be forgotten after a few weeks, or it may even be another "Margie." He has a new one now—"Once in a Lovetime."

ALL over town, in halls and in hotelrooms and in back stage dressing rooms, Benny is holding auditions these days. . . . He is getting his new show ready. . . . Most, you might even say all, of the people who will be in it mean nothing to anyone today. They are unknown. But out of the mob the chances are, will come one or several who will "have it"—and then, like the Powells and the Keelers, they will go on to the big time. It happens like that. That's the way it is with Benny Davis and Broadway.

A Farmer's Diary

Ubiquitous Ragweed

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

LONG summer days are the time of growth and bloom for every plant. I have watched modest slender asters form their long green tender shoots that in late autumn burst gloriously into white and purple flowers. Goldenrod grows unnoticed in improvished fields and roadside ditches until nights grow cool and longer before it shows its lovely yellow bloom. The purple ironweed, thistle and common foxtail are blooming now.

And chief among these ever present members of this carduaceous family is ragwort, or ragweed. It boldly shows itself in June beneath the heading wheat or about the early planted fields of oats. It peeps up between the blades of bluegrass on the lawn. It grows by the barnyard's edge and borders every cultivated field along the outside furrow.

For weeks our lawn was parched and gray from lack of rain. But even in the soft beds of dust where wind had blown the grass and roots away, short straggly ragweeds flourished. In the shade of fast growing shrubs it looms as a rival, and sometimes waves its long heads in mockery above the spreading tops.

Our wheat field, since the crop was cut, is green and thick with knee high ragweed. The soil in most places is as hard as shale yet the plant still flourishes. It seems to be the first to cover excavated soil.

Down along the Clearfork where the soil is moist and fertile I drove in my car between tall ragweed ten feet or more in height which lined the road and stream. The terminal of each upper branch looked like a soft green worm. The bough [illegible] stems stood so thick that I could not push my way through.

No wonder that allergic folks cannot escape their yellow pollen borne on every breeze! From coast to coast, at this season, they flaunt themselves. I saw ragweed grow along the Atlantic shore, in Florida, and in the distant west. I pulled one out of root, more than 2000 miles from my home, on foreign soil and remarked that even in British Columbia ragweed looks familiar.

Familiar too are the irritated nostrils, the moist and weeping eyes, the swollen lips and tongues, the open mouths of hay fever sufferers who, the country over, attest the subtle strength of this persistent weed with its irritating pollen.

WAGNER TAKES STAND AGAINST LABOR CHANGE

Declares Long Hours Do Not Mean Increased Output By Factories.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Sen. Robert W. Wagner (D. N. Y.), replying to "the suggestion that labor standards must be modified in the interest of national defense," declared last night that "long hours of labor do not necessarily result in increased production of goods."

Wagner, outstanding advocate and author of national social legislation, made his observations in an interview broadcast by the National Broadcasting company.

He asserted there were "four answers" to suggestions of modification of labor standards, listing them as:

1.—"The original 40-hour week law in France was a 40-hour week for factories as well as for their workers. There is nothing in our labor laws to hinder American factories from operation 24 hours a day, and an increasing number of our factories are in fact operating on three shifts."

2.—"Our factories are not hindered by law from a longer work-week if XXX the pay time-and-a-half for over time XXX.

3.—"XXXWe must find and give work to XXX unemployed millions before we begin to work present employes overtime. Five million workers are registered in the U. S. employment offices for all types of jobs, including skilled labor needed for national defense.

4.—"The final answer is that experience here and in Great Britain proves conclusively that long hours of labor do not necessarily result in increased production of goods. During the last war, the chief of ordnance of the U. S army made this statement: 'Industrial history proves that fair working conditions and a proper wage scale are essential to high production.'"

Wagner termed "insecurity and social maladjustment" to "enemies within our gates," and added that "we can no more afford to adopt a half-hearted policy of appeasement toward them than toward a potential invading foe."

MOTORISTS FINED

BUCYRUS—Two more motorists were fined $1 each Saturday in Bucyrus' campaign against traffic violations. Forest Leroy Beach of Galion and Earl White of Bucyrus each paid $1 for crashing red lights, police reported.

Married at Galion Sunday

MRS. ROBERT EICHHORN

In a wedding yesterday afternoon at the bride's home in Galion, Miss Mildred Hartwell became Mrs. Robert Eichhorn. The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. R. R. Elliker of the First Reformed church.

GALION COUPLE MARRIED SUNDAY IN CEREMONY AT BRIDE'S HOME

GALION—Before an improvised altar of palms, ferns and white gladiola, Miss Mildred Hartwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hartwell, South Street Road, exchanged marriage vows with Robert Eichorn, East Church street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the bride's home. The double ring ceremony was read in the presence of the immediate families, by Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of the First Reformed church.

The wedding march was played by Miss Emma Eichhorn, sister of the groom, and preceding the ceremony, Miss Esther Hopkins sang "I Love You Truly," and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." "Indian Love Call," was played during the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of white chiffon, trimmed in white lace, which was fashioned with puffed sleeves and a full skirt, floor length. Her finger tip veil was held to her hair by a halo of flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladiola, in the center of which was a corsage, which she used for her going away outfit.

Miss Miriam Gregg was bridesmaid and Herbert Eichhorn served as best man for his brother.

Immediately following the ceremony a two course luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. J. F. Bemiller. Covers were laid for 25. Appointments were in yellow and white, with a three tier wedding cake, on which was placed a miniature bride and groom, forming the centerpiece for the bride's table. Out of town guests at the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hartwell and children, Betty Jean and Richard, Upper Sandusky; and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hartwell and daughter, Evelyn, Mansfield.

The bride is a graduate of Galion high school with the class of 1937, and has been employed as a stenographer in the offices of the North Electric Manufacturing company.

Mr. Eichhorn graduated from Galion high school in 1936. He attended Mansfield Business school and is employed in the stock room at the North Electric.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell left on a wedding trip to Michigan and other places of interest. After the middle of September, the couple will be at home in their newly furnished home at 359 North Market street.

POSTAL PUZZLE

BEVERLY, Mass.—Postal authorities are to be congratulated for making the correct delivery on one of the most puzzling letters ever received at this postoffice. The letter, mailed in Nova Scotia, was addressed: Mrs. M. R. Beaton, 87 Lovatt St., Mass., U. S. A. No indication was given that the letter was intended for anyone in Beverly, and the street name was incorrectly spelled. Mrs. Malcolm R. Beaton, to whom the letter was sent lives on Lovett street.

SHIPWRECK ISLE

SAN FRANCISCO—(NS)—If you're planning to get shipwrecked, choose Kitava. That is the advice of the 28 crew members of the freighter Admiral Wiley, recently wrecked in the South Seas. The men were stranded for several days on the island of Kitava before being picked up by an Australian armed merchant cruiser. "Oh, boy, watta island!" exulted the seamen. "All you had to do for food was climb a tree. The natives were very friendly and the women beautiful."

MISS ANNA NANICH, MR. ETZWILER WEDDED

Couple Select Fourth Anniversary of Brother, Birthday of Sister To Exchange Nuptial Vows; On Eastern Trip.

IN REALITY three occasions were celebrated Saturday afternoon when Miss Anna Nanich and Paul Dick Etzwiler exchanged their nuptial vows, as they had selected the fourth wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, and the 18th birthday anniversary of Miss Nanich's sister.

St. Mark's Lutheran church was the scene of the 2 o'clock ceremony at which Rev. Wesley J. Runk, former pastor of the church now serving at the Third Protestant Memorial church of Cincinnati, officiated.

The altar was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns and two white beauty vases filled with white gladioli and asters. Supplementing the floral decorations were two seven-branch brass candelabra and two brass altar candlesticks. Satin ribbons marked the pews and a muslin aisle strip completed the decorations for the formal service.

Miss Nanich, daughter of Peter Nanich, 239 South Diamond street, was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was made in the princess style of white lace over satin. The neck was cut in a sweetheart design, and the sleeves were cut in the new bishop fashion. The skirt of the gown was made into a long train.

Completing her dress was a long veil of bridal illusion held in place by pearls and gardenias. She also wore a gold locket, the gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was made in the round front style of gardenias and white larkspur with a small shower tied with narrow white satin ribbons. For her going away corsage the gardenias were removed from the bridal bouquet.

Wear Pastels.

Miss Naomi Grandon served as maid of honor. She was gowned in a peach point d'esprit net over taffeta trimmed with blue bows. The two bridesmaids, Miss Mary Nanich, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Etzwiler, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were attired in aqua point d'esprit net over taffeta trimmed with peach bows.

Madelyn Yoha served as flower girl. She was dressed in a white shadow organza frock smocked in pastel shades and trimmed with ribbon bows to match the flowers which she carried in a garden style hat made of the same material as the dress. Streamers of the hat formed a handle, and the flowers included were pink and blue delphinium, peach gladioli and yellow and lavender pompom chrysanthemums.

The three attendants carried round front style bouquets made of these same flowers.

Mrs. Harry C. Koozer served as pianist, and played "Viennes Refrain" arranged by William M. Felton, "Canzone Amordas" by Ethelbert Nevin, "Indian Love Call" by Rudolf Friml, "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "Salut D'Amour" by Elgar and the two wedding marches. During the ceremony she played "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Herbert.

Miss Javetta Bookmyer, cousin of the bridegroom, sang "Wonderful One" by Nielan, "Calm as the Night" by Bohm and "Through the Years" by Youmans.

Attends Brother.

Joseph A. Etzwiler, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, while Clark Stutz, cousin of the bridegroom, John Precup, Ernest Green and Orland Mott served as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was decorated with a wedding cake encircled with smilax, and plumosos, smilax and other greenery were used down the center of the cloth. White tapers in crystal holders completed the setting. The buffet table for the guests was similarly decorated.

Later in the day the couple left for a trip along the Skyline drive to Washington, D. C., and New York City. For traveling Mrs. Etzwiler was attired in a cocoa brown tailored suit with white accessories. Upon their return to the city Sept. 5 the couple will be at home on Sixth avenue.

The recent bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and has been employed at the Tappan Stove company. Mr. Etzwiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Etzwiler, 262 Park avenue east, attended Ontario high school, and is now associated with the Mansfield Tile and Fireplace company.

Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ballinger and daughter, Barbara Jane, Kenton, and the officiating pastor and his wife from Cincinnati.

HONOR COUPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Durbin, Mansfield, were the guests of honor at a surprise party last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dill, Lexington. A dinner was served in celebration of the couple's silver wedding anniversary. Guests included their five children, Lucille, Ruth, Marilyn, Mildred and Geraldine, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Schindler and daughter, Margene, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Schindler and Albert Ballerer, all of Mansfield.

Name Mrs. Straub To Committee At C. L. of C. Meet

At the triennial convention of the Catholic Ladies of Columbia, which was held at Dayton last week, Mrs. R. C. Straub, Mansfield, was appointed a member of the finance committee. She and Mrs. Joseph Zimmerman, Jr. have just returned from attending the sessions.

Mrs. Edward Doyle, Springfield, was re-elected to her post as supreme president of the organization, and other offices were filled at this time. Delegates from Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan and Indiana were present.

Addresses were made by Miss Agnes G. Regan, executive secretary of the National Council of Catholic Women, Rev. Francis J. Friedel of the University of Dayton, Nicholas Nolan and Gertrude M. Bonholzer. A reception, banquet and tour of the city were featured during the convention.

At the business meeting it was decided to permanently establish the supreme offices at Columbus instead of Canton where they have previously been.

HAVE REUNION.

The descendants of Robert McCready met at North Lake park yesterday for a reunion arranged by Robert Alderson, president, and Mrs. Ralph Hughes, secretary. After the dinner which was served to 36 there was a program followed by the election of officers. Christ Schuck, Ashland, is the new president. Others are Dr. R. G. McCready, Wellsville, vice president, and Mrs. Virginia Murphy, Mansfield, secretary-treasurer.

Last Parties Set For Miss Cutter; Will Wed. Aug. 29

Miss Sanchen Cutter, who will become the bride of H. E. Shoemaker at 4:30 o'clock this Thursday afternoon before the altar of the First Presbyterian church, is being feted with a number of parties. This evening the Misses Katharine Hartman and Martha King are entertaining at the latter's home on West Second street.

Mrs. T. A. Siegenthaler and Miss Barbara Hartman were hostesses for a luncheon-bridge party last Friday afternoon in honor of the bride-elect. The affair was held at the Siegenthaler home on Braeburn road, and the hostesses presented the honoree with a shower of household gadgets.

That evening, Mrs. W. R. Cutter, sister-in-law of the bride-elect, had a party in her honor. Bridge was the diversion and at a late hour refreshments were served at the small tables. A group of Mr. Shoemaker's friends gave a bachelor party for him that same evening with William Mogg as host at his home on West First street.

Descendants Have Reunion At Home

The 34th annual reunion of the descendants of Ebenezer Smith, Revolutionary war soldier, was held yesterday at the family's old brick homestead, four miles southeast of the city on the South Diamond street road. This home was constructed 109 years ago, although Ebenezer Smith and his family came to the site in 1812, living for a time in a log cabin. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Banks, his descendants now live in the home.

Sixty-seven relatives and friends attended the dinner at noon yesterday, and during the afternoon, Mrs. L. F. Charles reviewed the family history. Out-of-town persons present were: Mrs. Bertha Smith and her daughters, Anna Louise and Frances, and Joseph Sauer, all of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Terry Hagerman and her two daughters of Los Angeles, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. William McQuate and their two daughters, and Miss Edith Tallentire of Ashland, and George Tallentire of Akron.

GATHER SUNDAY.

The 35th annual Schrack family reunion was held yesterday at the Pleasant Valley church near Lucas. G. H. Schrack was elected president, and Mrs. May Lex was named secretary. The next reunion will be held Sept. 13, 1941, at the church.

Informally Speaking...

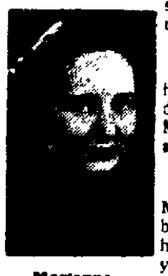
By MARIANNE

Aug. 26, 1940.

Lucy, dear:



Marianne

WELL, it seems as though we're always having too much of something or other. . . . If it isn't hot weather, then it's rain—but maybe that's because we're never quite satisfied with anything the weatherman gives us. . . . But in spite of the weather, I went to a street fair over in Delphos Saturday night, and the rain didn't seem to spoil the fun for anyone.

* * * * *

I hope the folks who are on vacations now aren't having the same disagreeable weather that we are, don't you, Lucy? Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Andregg and Mr. and Mrs. C. Richard Martin left Saturday for a sojourn at Mackinaw.

* * * * *

Returning from a trip east, Mrs. Oscar Geary, Mrs. Fannie Salyer and her son, John Salyer, brought greetings from Rev. Hayes M. Braker and his family along back with them. . . . Rev. Braker, you know, formerly was the pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church here and now has the pastorate of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist church in South Hills, a suburb of Pittsburgh. . . . The Mansfielders visited him there and also visited the Cathedral of Learning at University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie museum, and other places of interest. Another of Mrs. Salyer's sons, William C. Salyer, of Arkadelphia, Ark. accompanied them on the trip. . . . He is a professor of Latin and Greek in the Onachita Baptist college at Arkadelphia, having received his degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

* * * * *

We're all pretty unhappy about the fact that we have to bid goodbye to some residents of our town. . . . Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Houlette, their daughter, Betty, their sons, Robert and Jack, are moving to Evanston, Ill. soon. . . . Robert plans to enroll at Northwestern university there next fall, and Betty may too. . . . She has been attending Ohio Wesleyan university down in Delaware these past two years, and is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority there.

* * * * *

A FORMER Mansfielder, who has been visiting here of late, Paul Oberlin, is returning to his home in Washington, D. C. today. . . . He came here to see his old friends and also spent some time vacationing up at Lake Erie. . . . Louise Hasenzahl went back to Cleveland yesterday after a visit here with relatives and friends. . . . You probably recall that she is studying nursing at St. Vincent's Charity hospital in that city now. Mr. and Mrs. John Chatlain (she's the former Josephine Henness) are in town for a visit from their home in Chicago, Ill.

* * * * *

Some welcome visitors at the O. P. Anderson home these past few days have been Mrs. Anderson's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Scofield. . . . They've been living in the Philippine islands for the past 11 years, as Mr. Scofield was stationed there as physical director of Y. M. C. A. work for the army and navy. . . . They're now planning to make their home in this country, however. . . . And by the way, Lucy, when you write to Bette Anderson, who's Mrs. Robert Rohrer now, you'll have to send your letters to Patterson, N. J. instead of Boston, Mass., as the couple's plans have been changed since they were married on Aug. 18 and they're going to live in the New Jersey city now.

* * * * *

Mary Alice Wigton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wigton, is in Toledo now at the state convention of the American Legion, as she was chosen to be in the First Aid tent there . . . She was graduated from St. Vincent's school of nursing in that city earlier this year.

* * * * *

OH, and before I close, I mustn't forget to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hoover and their young daughters are vacationing at Chaska beach up at Lake Erie this week. Write soon and come over when you can.

Lovingly,

Marianne

Family Party Event At Denzler's Farm

A family party was held yesterday at the Denzler farm with Mrs. Lewis Hoffman, Mrs. Milton Selby, and Mrs. Guy Whipp, Toledo, serving as hostesses. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Whipp, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Naumann and daughter, Caroline, Painesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Selby and daughters, Marjorie and Janet, Zanesville. Dinner was served to 30 at noon.

Plans were made to have the family party an annual affair to be held the first Sunday in August of each year. Mrs. Selby was named president and Mrs. William H. Hall is secretary-treasurer.

Tell Nuptial Date At Sunday Party Given At Palmer's

Twenty friends of Miss Julianne Palmer learned of her approaching marriage to Harry A. Wineland yesterday afternoon when her mother, Mrs. Jay R. Palmer, and her sister, Miss Patty Palmer, entertained at the family home, 793 Park avenue west.

The wedding will be solemnized before the altar of the First Congregational church at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 20. Miss Patty will be her sister's attendant at that time, and Gene Zediker will be the best man.

The tea table was centered with a miniature bride and groom, standing under a white wedding bell bearing the names of the couple and the nuptial date. A bouquet of white asters and gladioli also decorated the table, at which Mrs. Harry Wineland, mother of the prospective bridegroom, presided.

Miss Palmer and Mr. Wineland are both graduates of Mansfield Senior high school. She, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Palmer, is employed at the Ohio Brass company. Mr. Wineland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wineland, South Mulberry street, is associated in business with his father.

New Committee Heads Announced By Club President

Announcement was made by Mrs. Merritt Giles, president of the American Association of University Women, of some changes in committee heads and officers of the organization. Mrs. R. J. Welsh is the new membership chairman. Mrs. Gordon Colby has taken over the duties of social chairman to replace Mrs. Charles Kuntz who was elected to the vice presidency of the organization last spring.

Other chairmen are Miss Esther Barnett, social studies; Miss Virginia Stark, creative art; Miss Margaret DeWitt, reporting on the national organizations activities in international relations, and Miss Beatrice McLees, former education chairman now in charge of the high school activity committee for awarding local scholarships.

Her committee includes Miss Emma Waring, Mrs. Paul Endriss, Mrs. P. R. Sarby and Miss Anita Strauch. Mrs. L. C. Baumgardner will take over the duties of the education chairman.

Other committee heads are Mrs. R. D. Campbell, fellowship; Mrs. Henry Huston, legislative; Mrs. George Hypes, credentials, and Mrs. Frank Lane, publicity.

Other officers who will complete their two year terms this year are Miss Florence Robison, second vice president; Miss Edith Beck, secretary; Miss Wilma Snider, treasurer, and Mrs. K. E. Buhr, last resident president.

REV. CORWIN READS SUNDAY CEREMONY

Miss Betty Jane Smith, Robert Hostetler Exchange Vows; Will Be At Home In Mid-September At Oxford.

REV. E. G. CORWIN officiated at the altar of the First Methodist church yesterday at 3:30 p. m. for the marriage of Miss Betty Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Damon F. Smith, Westview boulevard, South Boulevards, and Robert Edward Hostetler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hostetler, 126 Blanche street.

For her wedding, Miss Smith, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of soldier blue with matching accessories. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, and she wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

She was attended by Miss Maxine Louise Hartman who wore a wine costume with navy accessories and a gardenia corsage. Wilton Morkel served as best man, and Wade Pittinger and John Pfahler were the ushers.

Both mothers were attired in navy dresses with white accessories, and wore corsages of gardenias.

Mrs. David Ireland, church organist, played the nuptial music.

The bride, a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, has been attending Ashland college. Mr. Hostetler is also a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and is attending Miami university. After mid-September the couple will be at home in Oxford.

Following the afternoon ceremony a reception was held for members of the family and a few close friends at the bride's home.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. French Crow, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Walter May, Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Grisbey, Marion; Miss Betty Kemp, Plymouth; Mrs. Della Ernsberger, grandmother of the bride from Butler, and Mrs. Cris Basinger, Pandora, O.

Coming Marriage Disclosed At Tea Given Yesterday

Mrs. W. W. Purdy announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Jean, to Carl McNeill of Canton yesterday afternoon during a tea for 50 guests at the family home, 408 Park avenue west. The couple will be wedded in a home ceremony on Sept. 12 at 10 a. m. with Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Mrs. Donald Howe of Ames, Ia. and Mrs. John Goff presided at the tea table, which was decorated with a bouquet of yellow roses and gypsophila on a yellow cloth and lighted by tall white tapers. The napkins were printed with the names and wedding date.

Out-of-town guests at the affair included the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Clara McNeill, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McNeill, all of Canton; Mrs. Thurman Smith and her daughter, Dorothy Louise, of Delaware; Miss Betty Crandall, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. William Bucy, Mrs. Lola Bassett and Mrs. C. W. Purdy, Killbuck, and Miss Ruth Leiner, Millersburg.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Purdy. She is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and Ohio Wesleyan university. A member of Delta Gamma sorority, she now is employed at the H. L. Reed company. Mr. McNeill attended school in Canton and also was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity.

The first in a series of prenuptial parties honoring Miss Purdy will be given Wednesday evening by Mrs. O. J. Place.
